All-out Battle in Holland Nears; British Take Venray

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 18—British troops captured Venray and formed a solid 10-mile front in eastern Holland 33 miles from Duisburg today, while Berlin declared half a million men were facing each other in The Netherlands ready for "battle that may flare up at any moment."

Canadians to the west pressed back the German pocket blocking use of the great supply port of Antwerp.

Aachen still was being beaten into submission. U. S. heavy bombers again struck at Cologne 40 miles beyond it, supping German power to move up reserves. Berlin asserted the American first army was preparing a new offensive aimed at Cologne.

The frontlin France sprang to action also. U. S. third army troops in a mile gain hit within four miles of the fortress city of Metz, and French forces farther south made progress, punching within from three to [illegible] two Vosges [illegible] the reich.

From Venray [illegible] British second army forces captured Venray near the Maas river, and a dispatch from supreme headquarters said the Tommies had linked up a 10-mile front along the Venray-Deurne road.

The Germans below the Scheldt estuary barring the water lane to Antwerp fell back under Canadian pressure. A front dispatch said there were signs the German siege ships might be ending. Demolitions were

FR Plans New Talks In Stepped up Drive

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (UP)—President Roosevelt and his advisers today planned an active campaign of several speeches in the final fort- [illegible] election in which he is opposed for the presidency by [illegible] of New York.

[illegible] in before Nov. 7 when the polls open. Mr. Roose- [illegible] New York at a foreign policy association dinner next [illegible] conference, Pennsylvania Democratic leader, has announced that the President will speak in Shibe park, Philadelphia, on Oct. 27, one week from Friday.

Dates, Places Secret

Mr. Roosevelt told his news conference yesterday there would be some speeches but he did not know yet when or where. Some smart money is down on Cleveland, Chicago or Buffalo. And it is noted that the Shibe park engagement breaks a precedent which came with the war—the President will make a public appearance at a time previously announced before a catch-as-catch-can audience.

Heretofore his wartime public appearances have all been before restricted audiences. The bars also slipped a notch yesterday when he told news conference questioners he would go to New York for Saturday's speech and would travel by train.

Refused Campaign

Mr. Roosevelt told Democratic National Committee Chairman Robert E. Hannegan a week before the party's Chicago convention that he would accept renomination for a fourth term but would not "campaign in the usual sense." He has made only two avowedly campaign addresses since then, one to the AFL teamsters union banquet here last month and a broadcast this month from the White House. Now the almost inevitable has happened. The President's advisers have insisted that he go to bat.

DEWEY TO SPEAK TO U. S. TONIGHT

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 18 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will make his final major interpretation of the Republican party's stand on foreign policy for the Nov. 7 election in a speech in New York city tonight, three days before President Roosevelt sets forth there the Democratic viewpoint on the same issues.

Speaking on the New York Herald-Tribune forum in a nation-wide broadcast—(Blue)—from 7:30 to 8 p.m. EWT, the Republican presidential nominee is expected to expand upon his party's platform declaration for "responsible participation" by the United States in a cooperative international organization to preserve future peace.

He has urged bipartisan consideration of questions arising out of efforts to form an international security organization, but has reserved the right to discuss the administration's handling of foreign affairs. He did this critically in his St. Louis speech Monday night when he charged that American representation in vital affairs abroad was "on the brink of chaos."

Mr. Roosevelt, who declined an invitation to address the Herald Tribune forum, will speak Saturday night before the foreign policy association.

The Republican nominee is expected tonight to lay new emphasis on a theme he has touched upon in previous speeches—that the United States must be strong at home if it is to assume the leadership he has said it must provide in bringing about effective international cooperation to prevent future wars.

NAZI GUNS SLOW DRIVE IN ITALY

By ELEANOR PACKARD

ROME, Oct. 18 (U.P.) — American troops, battering through artillery-supported German defenses, swept across Monte Belmonte to bring the fifth army line within eight miles of Bologna today, while eighth army forces in the east moved up in force to the outskirts of Cesena.

A communique said the Germans were putting up a "fierce fight as they backed through the foothills of the Apennines toward Bologna and Italy's Po valley.

The Germans, taking advantage of the rainy weather, virtually stopped the main American drive northward on the highway from Florence, but another U. S. column smashed though the fog-filled canyons east of the highway to take Monte Belmonte, three miles northeast of Livergnano.

Front reports said that while the recent heavy German artillery fire had decreased somewhat, the nazis attempted several strong counter-attacks on the fifth army front but were unable to break the American positions.

United Press Correspondent James E. Roper, with the fifth, said the Germans were known to be planning strong defenses just south of Bologna and he described the fighting there as becoming characteristic of the siege of Cassino, which eventually was conquered.

'Victory' Brings Japs Extra Saki

By United Press

In commemoration of the "great" Japanese naval victory off Formosa, "extra and large rations of saki will be issued to all the emperor's subjects," radio Tokyo said today.

Welfare Minister Hiotada Hirose broadcast this "message of great joy to the people of Japan to further enhance the home front's morale," Tokyo said, as heard by United Press in San Francisco.

Germans Confirm Beattie Capture

LONDON, Oct. 18 (U.P.)—Confirmation that Edward W. Beattie, veteran United Press war correspondent, has been captured came today from a German source for the first time.

A German DNB agency dispatch, quoting the nazi war commentator, Alexander Schmalfuss, said:

"Prisoners of the past few days also include the war correspondent Beattie of the American news agency, United Press."

Beattie was captured by the Germans more than a month ago while on the American third army front east of Nancy.

Bombers Hammer Philippines in Prelude to Invasion; Offensive In Pacific Rages Into 10th Day

By FRANK TREMAINE

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 18 (UP) — The greatest American air-sea offensive of the Pacific war went into its 10th day today with angry swarms of carrier-based planes blasting ceaselessly at Japan's weakening anti-invasion defenses in the Philippines.

The Japanese-controlled Manila radio, in a broadcast recorded by the FCC in the United States, said 80 American carrier planes attacked the Philippine capital in three waves at 10 a. m. Manila time today, while other aircraft raided nearby Clark field and Legaspi in southern Luzon. Sixteen planes were shot down and three others damaged seriously, the broadcast said.

Tokyo said Japanese army and navy circles were emphasizing the need to be "fully on guard" against an American invasion of the Philippines despite fanciful earlier reports that American warships assigned the task of landing troops had been defeated and dispersed.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, announced in a communique last night that aircraft of Adm. William F. Halsey's vast third fleet were "continuing to attack objectives in the Philippines," but gave no details.

His failure to specify that the latest targets lay on battered Luzon, northern and most important island in the archipelago, raised the possibility that the carrier planes were extending their trail of destruction south toward Mindanao, already within striking range of American invasion troops and land-based planes.

A roundabout Japanese report said carrier planes had attacked Clark field near Manila and the Legaspi area of southern Luzon Monday "Tuesday, Tokyo time."

A late communique from Chungking raised to 20 ships sunk or damaged the toll exacted by the China-based American 14th air force in its destructive raid Monday on Hong Kong harbor, where Japanese vessels had sought shelter from the ravages of the third fleet.

Eight ships totalling more than 40,000 tons were sunk, seven totalling 23,000 tons were damaged and five others probably were damaged, Another freighter was skip-bombed off Hong Kong island and left sinking.

Fighter planes from the southwest Pacific command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has vowed to return to the Philippines at the head of a liberating army, joined the Philippines assault with a series of low-level raids on northern Mindanao Monday.

HUNGARIAN ARMY NEAR REBELLION OVER NAZI RULE

LONDON, Oct. 18 (U.P.)- Budapest broadcasts indicated today that a major proportion of the Hungarian army garrison in the capital had deserted rather than serve the new nazi government and its German masters.

Radio Budapest was heard at frequent intervals broadcasting urgent orders to all soldiers in the capital to "return at once to your barracks, quarters or home." London observers interpreted the order as a sign of wholesale desertions in the wake of the nazi coup.

Disorders Flare

It also was possible that disorders had broken out in Budapest on a scale threatening to overwhelm the defenders of nazi Premier Ferenc Szalasi.

Stockholm said at least one broadcast ordered soldiers to return to their units "even if they left them in order to assist the new government."

Deposed regent Adm. Nicholas Horthy's short-lived proclamation accepting allied peace terms, even though subsequently retracted, brought repercussions in the adjoining puppet state of Slovakia, a Bern dispatch said.

Germans Slain

German newspapers arriving in Switzerland said Slovak "rebels," encouraged by Hungary's apparent defection from the nazi camp, had rounded up a large number of members of the German minority and already had executed 2,000 of them.

In retaliation, the newspaper said, German forces in the country started similar mass executions. Adolf Hitler's newspaper Volkischer Beobachter said the Germans acted with "the full support of the Slovak government."

BOMBERS RESUME COLOGNE ATTACKS

LONDON, Oct. 18 (U.P.)—American flying fortresses and Liberators smashed at Cologne again today, building up the weight of more than 5,000 tons of explosives dropped on the Rhineland stronghold since Saturday.

More than 550 heavy bombers of the United States eighth air force, escorted by 450 Mustangs and Thunderbolts, attacked rail yards and marshalling yards at Cologne and Kassel, 120 miles to the east.

About 300 of the Fortresses and Liberators hit Cologne to carry on the sustained attack that threatens to level the city of nearly 1,000,000 population, a key base in the defense of western Germany.

The two-way raid on Germany was carried out despite clouds which concealed the targets and forced the bombardiers to aim by means of instruments.

Today's bombardment of Cologne was on a scale well below that of yesterday in which 1,300 heavy bombers brought to a peak of intensity one of the most concentrated attacks of the air offensives against any German city.

Reds Push Mile-Deep Inside Reich Border

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 18—Germany implied today that the Russians had invaded East Prussia and that the mighty new red army offensive from the Baltic states had extended to Schirwindt, a city inside the reich.

Enemy broadcasts said the offensive, not yet announced by Moscow, had forced the nazis to abandon the Lithuanian highway center of Virbalis, three miles from the frontier, and that the battle beating against the landed estates of the Junkers generals was on a broadening front.

"The Russians have extended their offensive near the East Prussian border farther to the south and attacked strong German defenses between Kalvarija and Schirwindt," the nazi commentator, Col. Ernst von Hammer, said. "After stiff resistance, the town of Virbalis had to be given up."

Kalvarija in Lithuania lies 30 miles southeast of Schirwindt. The German frontier town is 42 miles from Insterburg, railway junction of the Prussian rail center of Insterburg and 91 east of the capital of Konigsberg. Other Russians menacing the Baltic port of Memel are within 65 miles of Konigsberg.

Berlin also suggested a heavy new Russian assault on East Prussia from the south and the southeast, but Moscow remained silent about operations in this sector. Along the northern border of the Niemen river line the Russians have approached within artillery range of Tilsit, East Prussian frontier stronghold.

Attack

Still farther north, the two Russian armies that captured Riga last week proceeded with a cleanup of western Latvia while Soviet long-range bombers attacked Ventspils, one of the last useful ports remaining to the Germans trapped on that front.

On the southern end of the front heavy fighting continued in Hungarian territory, a Prussian rail center and Soviet troops were reported within artillery range of Tilsit.

Twin Falls Granted Priorities To Ease Shortage of Housing

Relief from the existing housing shortage in Twin Falls was made possible Wednesday by the national housing agency's regional office at Seattle.

The Twin Falls area has been made eligible for an unlimited quantity of residential conversion priorities, according to word received by the Times-News from George W. Coplen, regional representative of the national housing agency.

Coplen advised the Times-News that this action is in accordance with the recent announcement of the war production board and the national housing agency that such priorities would be made available in areas where NHA determines that housing shortages are causing extreme hardship.

Apartment houses and other existing dwelling units here may now be remodeled or converted to provide smaller housing units. Applications for permission to convert or remodel such structures should be filed with the federal housing administration, a constituent unit of NHA, in Boise.

The Twin Falls applicants will be permitted use of materials contained in the war housing critical list and the rents charged will be under OPA regulations. Occupancy will not be limited to war workers.

Need for providing additional living units for general occupancy in congested areas has long been recognized, Coplen said, but little could be done about it until materials needed to construct housing for war workers could be released.

Twin Falls is among the most congested cities of the northwest as regards housing, and was ranked by American magazine as the only war "boom" city between Ogden and Seattle.

Buhl GI Taken Captive, Later Makes Getaway

BUHL, Oct. 18—Sgt. William H. Overbaugh, serving with the second invasion forces in France and Germany, writes that he was captured by the Germans at one time, but managed to escape and return to his own lines. He says, "It gives a fellow a funny feeling" to be fired upon by his own men, for our forces had no knowledge of the American prisoners at that time.

Overbaugh is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Overbaugh, former Buhl residents who for the past two years have resided in California. He is a graduate of the Buhl high school and a nephew of Chief of Police and Mrs. Hal Cunningham.

STERN ARMY RULE TO GOVERN REICH

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY POWER, Oct. 18 (AP)—The supreme allied command's military organization is imposing an administrative machine coupled with a stern rule designed to exterminate nazism, Brig-Gen. Julius C. Holmes, General Eisenhower's deputy assistant chief of staff for military government, said today.

Holmes made public a code of military laws and ordinances already applied in the small area of Germany under occupation, and ready to be applied in all territory conquered by armies under Eisenhower's command.

These laws suspend German sovereignty with posting of proclamations as the troops enter, and vest it in the supreme commander.

Holmes stressed that the program deals only with military occupation in the wake of the armies while war still is being waged in Germany, and not with long-range occupation plans.

The military law drawn up for conquered Germany provides for apprehension of war criminals, nazi and gestapo leaders, seizure and control of all public property and funds, and possible death penalties for anyone continuing resistance.

ODT Bans Taxis In Midwest City

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 18 (AP)—By order of Earl T. Amrine, district manager for the office of defense transportation, taxicab service in Springfield city will be suspended at 6 a. m. tomorrow.

Amrine said the order, freezing all but 15 of the 50 licensed taxicabs, applies to cabs operated by three cab companies serving this city of 75,000, is the result of "continuous violation of ODT regulations"—by the cab drivers. He charged them, with reckless driving and said the cabs are in bad repair.

The bomb apparently was picked up by a work detail, Col. George M. Maddux, post commandant, said. He declined to reveal other details or explain the purpose of smuggling the high explosive into the barracks.

Gale Lashes Cuba; Feared Nearing U. S.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 18 (AP)—Hurricane winds up to 140 and 150 miles an hour in gusts lashed Havana and Cuba's western provinces today as the storm moved out into the Gulf of Mexico and sent advance gales sweeping the Florida keys.

Havana was heavily damaged but first reports showed no casualties.

Hours after the center of the disturbance passed northward, the city was lashed by high winds and rain which paralyzed island communications and delayed official surveys.

To Hit Coast

The weather bureau said full hurricane winds would be experienced along the entire string of exposed keys stretching southwestward from the Florida mainland within a short time. "Very high tides" were forecast.

All of south Florida was braced for a blow.

A radio report to Pan American airways said that a number of houses were blown down in Havana and that a number of small buildings at the Cuban capital's airport were flattened.

The tip of Pinar, island south of Cuba which was raked with full force yesterday, still was without communications.

Moving Slowly

The weather bureau said the center of the Caribbean-born hurricane passed very near Havana about 8 a.m., moving slowly northward about 10 miles an hour.

Hurricane warnings were hoisted along the Florida coast from Miami to Tampa. The weather bureau warned that winds of near hurricane force from Havana about 8 a.m., moving slowly northward about 10 miles an hour.

Miller was born and reared in Blackfoot. His father died there in 1938. His mother remarried and moved to Cassia county.

Before entering service, Miller worked 18 months in a Kaiser shipyard in Portland. At the time he was reported missing, he had completed 20 missions and had received the air medal in July. His brother, Sgt. Ralph O. Miller, is a waist gunner on bombardier, now stationed in Italy. Also, Pfc. Ira, three sisters and four other brothers.

BRITISH LAND ON KEY ISLAND NEAR COAST OF GREECE

ROME, Oct. 18 (AP) — Two British destroyers landed forces which took over the island of Scarpanto at dawn yesterday after the Greek population on the island had "contained" the enemy garrison there, allied headquarters announced today.

Located in the Dodecanese group, the mountainous island of Scarpanto is between Crete and Rhodes. The island is 30 miles long and has an extreme width of eight miles. Approximately 8,000 people live there.

Harbor Damaged

It was announced officially that German demolitions on the Greek mainland caused severe damage to the harbor installations at Piraeus, the port of Athens, but most of the utilities at the port are functioning.

More allied parachute troops have been dropped in the Athens area, the communique said, but there was nothing to indicate that any enemy opposition was met.

The allied command said Scarpanto was seized "in the name of the United Nations" and that the landing was not opposed.

Ex-Enemy Isle

A naval communique said "Scarpanto, like other islands in the Dodecanese is a no-man's territory."

The wording appeared intended to make clear to the Italians, who occupied Scarpanto and most of the Dodecanese nearly a quarter century ago, and to the Greeks, who already are demanding the strategic islands, that the United Nations as a whole intend to take over and administer the group until final peace settlement.

NEW DEAL WASTE HIT BY BRICKER

LONG BEACH, Calif., Oct. 18 (AP) — Gov. John W. Bricker declared today that "for sheer spending ingenuity and waste the present administration can not be surpassed," and proceeded to give what he called examples.

To support his statement, the Republican candidate for vice-president said the first would quote the Democratic nominee for vice-president, Senator Harry S. Truman.

The text of Gov. Bricker's speech, released by his campaign staff, said Truman once remarked: "I could stand here all afternoon and give example after example showing that tremendous sums of money are simply being thrown away with a WPA touch."

The Ohio governor commented that Truman was "guilty of gross understatement."

Pointing to what he described as new deal examples of "waste and extravagance," Bricker said:

"The Soil Conservation Service is carrying on the federal pay roll to issue pro-administration "propaganda" at a cost of $100,000,000 a year.

That is of "the Tugwell-inspired resettlement projects" which have turned over to occupants at a loss of $4,000,000 to the taxpayers.

That $2,679,000 was spent on the Arkansas R. W. Va. resettlement project and in 1942 C. B. Baldwin, then farm security administrator said the government would be glad to sell it to the homesteaders for $175,000.

Robot Bombs Hit Part of England

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The east coast of England shook from spectacular explosions during the night as anti-aircraft gunners in the London area accounted for more robot bombs and blew up a number of them in flight.

It was the seventh consecutive night that Londoners declared the London area had come under attack by the robots. The air ministry announced casualties and damage had been caused by a bomb which escaped the sick-sack barrage and the alert Mosquito patrol.

MOUNTAIN HOME, Oct. 18 (AP)—Henry S. Wilson, 21, former student at Boise Junior college, is in the Elmore county hospital here with his left leg severed below the knee in a car accident on highway 30 near Mountain Home today.

Wilson, who was driving a car which overturned, was pinned under the vehicle. Physicians said the leg could not be saved.

HEAVY OFFENSIVE NEAR IN HOLLAND

reported in the Breskens area, stronghold of the enemy pocket, along with considerable transport movement.

Lieut. Gen. H. D. Crerar's Canadians have reached IJzendijke, six miles south of Breskens, pressing hard on the newly formed defense line of the suicide German troops within the narrowing pocket. Supreme allied headquarters reported bombers had attacked the sea dyke at West Kapelle on the nearby island of Walcheren.

Tank Battle Looms

In northern Holland, where Berlin has reported the allies have massed 1,500 tanks for a drive into the Rhine-Ruhr valley, Lieut. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey's British second army took Venray after bitter house-to-house fighting and plunged on two miles southeast of the town, which itself is eight miles from the reich frontier.

Associated Press Correspondent Ned Nordness, with this force, reported that American armored columns on the right flank had bridged the Canal De Doorn.

General Eisenhower's communique described the fighting on the first army front as a mopping up procedure. There was mopping up inside Aachen, which has set a pattern of punishment for German cities which resist the allied advance, and mopping up to the northeast of "segments of the Siegfried line" to clear the way for the next drive.

Trap Admitted

The German radio, finally acknowledging Aachen has been encircled, described the fighting there as surpassing everything that has gone before in this war, and said flatly that Eisenhower "is planning an all-out offensive on Cologne after capturing Aachen."

The Germans halted yesterday their frustrated attempts to piece the American lines surrounding the city.

Officers at supreme allied headquarters would not confirm the supposition that the Germans possibly have given up hope of saving Aachen. The lack of a counter-attack yesterday may mean merely that the Germans have paused to reform for more counter-blows.

Associated Press Correspondent William S. White estimated the nazis had lost 1,500 men captured and 1,000 killed in attempts to recapture Aachen, or approximately 25 per cent of their attacking forces.

Civilians Flee

About 3,500 German civilians have been evacuated from Aachen and as many more were estimated to be still hiding amid the rubble of the dead city.

A front dispatch said some 10,000 Germans, by-passed in the allied onrush through France, still are scattered in pockets behind the allied line.

These enemy troops are distributed like this: 8,000 at Dunkerque, 22,000 at Lorient, 20,000 at St. Nazaire, 30,000 in the Vannes area and 26,000 in the Bordeaux sector. Probably another 10,000 Germans are on the channel islands.

Hamstrung by a lack of transport, munitions and supplies, these enemy troops are not causing the allies any real trouble.

Writ Quashed in Suit Over Farm

A writ of mandamus against C. A. Bailey, probate judge, and J. O. Pumphrey, justice of the peace, was quashed in district court Tuesday in a memorandum decision handed down by District Judge J. W. Porter.

The writ was filed in connection with the Baker land case after Bailey transferred it from the probate court to justice court.

A new justice hearing in the case is slated by Justice of the Peace Pumphrey for next Wednesday morning in the probate court rooms.

The action was an outgrowth of a case filed Aug. 22 in probate court by H. O. Higgins, naming Roy and Elsie Baker as defendants, seeking their removal from farm land owned by Higgins.

Subsequently, the Bakers, through their attorney, O. C. Hall, filed an affidavit in district court disqualifying Bailey as probate judge, and demanded that the case be transferred to district court.

Roy E. Smith represented Bailey and Pumphrey.

convoy on a highway north of Valencia, the fighters destroyed 62 trucks and six staff cars and dispersed mounted cavalry troops with many casualties, then went on to attack Cagayan and Matina airdromes. One enemy bomber was destroyed on the ground, airdrome installations were damaged and nearby small craft were hit.

Cagayan is a major air and naval base on Macajalar bay on the northern coast of Mindanao.

Nimitz' south Pacific forces were revealed belatedly to have strengthened their hold on the eastern approaches to the Philippines with an unopposed landing last Sept. 20 and 21 on Ulithi atoll, a coral-ringed island group 900 miles east of Mindanao and 400 miles northeast of American-occupied Peleliu in the southern Palaus.

"The possibility that the enemy may not have been immediately aware of these landings led to the withholding of this information until this time," Nimitz said in a communique.

Though already in a rear area in comparison with American bridgeheads in the Palau and Halmahera groups, the latter 200 miles south of Mindanao, occupation of Ulithi in the western Carolines gave the American command another supply base for an ultimate assault on the Philippines.

At the same time R. W. Carpenter, county chairman, announced Kimberly workers report having reached 40 per cent of their $2,500 goal and Filer workers 60 per cent of a similar goal. In all areas outside of Twin Falls city and independent school district No. 1, funds are for the war fund only. No report had been received from the Buhl campaign up until noon today.

War fund goal outside of Twin Falls is $13,500. Inside the city and the school district, the $26,000 goal calls for $16,000 for the war fund and $10,000 for the Community Chest. At noon today the local total stood at $18,800.

Today Mr. Reese cited an instance in which a farmer, with two sons in the service, gave $25 to the war fund drive while "his next door neighbor who was much better off, donated $5."

"Needless to say," Reese said, "the farmer who gave the $5 has his two sons helping him on the farm.

"This war is everybody's war and we all should be more than willing to help do our part. We hope that people will realize this and that donations will come in sufficient amount and number so that we will be able to wind up the local drive by next Saturday."

SOVIETS BATTLE INSIDE GERMANY

there. Marshal Tito announced the Germans had been routed from all except two districts of the city.

Moscow's victory guns were primed to salute the expected fall of Belgrade, Yugoslavia's war-ravaged capital. Dispatches from the area said German troops were in a death trap, with the city largely mopped up.

City in Flames

Many of the capital's buildings were reported in flames after fierce day and night street fighting.

An Izvestia front line dispatch said Yugoslav partisans equipped with captured German tommyguns and grenades were pouring into the city to join in the final mopup.

A belief prevailed meanwhile in Moscow that Hungarian army units have deserted the Germans and now are fighting beside the Russians in an effort to drive the nazis from Budapest, the Hungarian capital.

Hungarians Desert

The Germans themselves announced in a Berlin broadcast yesterday that high Hungarian army chiefs had gone over to the Russian side. Specifically named was Maj. Gen. Bela Miklos von Dalnok, commander of the first army. Neutral reports said von Dalnok's army was marching on the capital.

A Tass dispatch said Adm. Nicholas Horthy's government still was in existence, although his whereabouts were not officially known. The dispatch said strikes against Count Ferenc Szalasi's new regime were continuing in Budapest.

Money in Trousers, Then Under Pillow: But Thief Takes It

That deal about tucking your wallet under your pillow for safe keeping at night doesn't always work, R. N. Garamich, Pocatello, found out in Twin Falls Wednesday—not even when you leave the wallet in your trousers.

After taking the precaution of placing $135 in the wallet, the wallet in his trousers, and the trousers under the pillow in a room at a hotel here Tuesday night, the Pocatello man forgot to lock his door.

Wednesday morning he reported the theft of the money to police here. Presumably he still has the trousers.

Students Start Work in Fields

Four hundred students of Twin Falls schools, both boys and girls, went to work Wednesday morning on farms throughout Twin Falls county as the first day of the harvest vacation got underway.

Starting at 7 a. m., according to A. J. Meeks, U. S. employment office manager, the students kept arriving all morning and were still being called for by farmers throughout the afternoon.

To handle the flood tide of labor, Kenneth Kail, high school vice-principal, and one other instructor were on hand. Students in lots ranging between six and more than a dozen, were employed, Meeks said.

Though the majority of them are being used to bring in the potato crop, some are helping in the onion harvest.

Death of Mother, 4 Babies Probed

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 18 (AP)—A mother and her four young sons were dead today apparently from the effects of a mysterious illness which authorities were trying to identify through autopsies.

The victims were Mrs. Bertha M. Wolfe, 22, and the children, Merlin, 5; Emmett, 4; Daniel, 3; and Douglas, 18 months.

City Detective George Barber said the father, Howard M. Wolfe, a truck driver, told him the family had eaten a meal of spaghetti and sauer kraut at a relative's home Monday night. After returning home, the children complained of feeling ill, Wolfe said. When he left home at 7 o'clock yesterday morning for work they were playing and he ordered them back to bed. He said his wife complained of a headache.

Detective Barber said neighbors told him they heard the children playing in the house about 2 p.m., but all of them were found dead about 5:40 p.m.

East Battleground

The populous middle eastern seaboard states are a battleground. Former Gov. Charles Edison of New Jersey, one time secretary of navy in the Roosevelt cabinet and an early and staunch new dealer, sounded a sour note on the White House steps yesterday. Emerging from Mr. Roosevelt's office, he revealed to reporters he had told the President that "New Jersey would go for Dewey by a substantial majority."

He didn't say "substantial," the President remarked when asked about it later in the day—just said Gov. Dewey would carry the state.

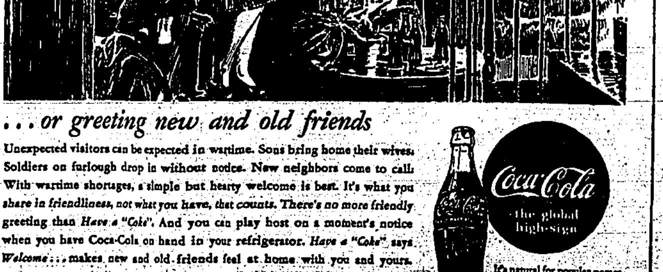
Have a Coca-Cola = The family welcomes you



. . . or greeting new and old friends

Unexpected visitors can be expected in wartime. Sons bring home their wives. Soldiers on furlough drop in without notice. New neighbors come to call. With wartime shortages, a simple but hearty welcome is best. It's what you share in friendliness, not what you have, that counts. There's no more friendly greeting than Have a "Coke". And you can play host on a moment's notice when you have Coca-Cola on hand in your refrigerator. Have a "Coke" says Welcome . . . makes new and old friends feel at home with you and yours.

CAPITAL PROBES SAEFTY OF GIRLS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—The government began a check-up today on how many 'teen-age girls it is employing in Washington and what sort of work they are doing as debate continued over a proposal that those under 20 be sent back home.

In response to a request from the Washington Star, the civil service commission agreed to make a sample survey to gather statistics on:

1. The number of 'teen-age girls in government agencies here.
2. What jobs they do.
3. What salaries they make.
4. Their efficiency ratings and attendance records.

Tabulations Lacking

The civil service commission now has no tabulations on age groups of federal employes. Its records show there are 152,265 women employes in the Washington area compared with 40,312 in 1939 pre-emergency days.

Thousands of the wartime employes are young girls, however, and civic leaders and others have been engaged in a warm debate over how to protect them from a big city's pitfalls since Dorothy Berrum, 18, war department clerk from Chippewa Falls, Wis., was found raped and slain in a park Oct. 6. Earl McFarland, 21, marine corps private, has been indicted on a charge of killing her.

The suggestion that the 'teen-age girls be sent home came from Ray H. Everett, executive secretary of the Social Hygiene society, a private organization, who declared "most girls under 20 are too immature to be running loose in Washington."

Argue on Stand

James A. Nolan, director of the Washington Criminal Justice association, another private organization, agreed with Everett's general stand but said the age limit ought to be 21.

However, a spokesman for the civil service commission commented that the girls are doing essential jobs; that "we have to face the fact that this country is at war and therefore we have to call on young people for jobs we would not ask them to do in peacetime." He observed, too, that no one was demanding that "'teen-age boys overseas at fighting fronts be sent back home."

Lieutenant Now Air Forecaster

Integrally a part of bomber and fighter plane operations is the man who tells the pilots in advance whether or not there is going to be a typical bomber's moon by night or a blinding sun by day to screen the fighters' assault. At an English airdrome Lieut. Leland M. Perry, Twin Falls, fills this vital role.

An army weather forecaster overseas since March, the Twin Falls man was recently awarded the silver bar of a first lieutenant. Prior to his embarkation, Lieutenant Perry spent four months as army forecaster at the St. Joseph, Mo., airbase. He was commissioned at Grand Rapids, Mich., in September 1943.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Perry, Twin Falls, he was a radioman after his September, 1942, enlistment, but later transferred to meteorology. A graduate of Twin Falls high school, Lieutenant Perry also attended Linfield college, McMinnville, Ore.

TRANSPORTS PUT AT PRIORITIES TOP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—A top priority has been assigned for the construction of combat transport ships and combat-loaded carriers, described as vitally needed for future operations in the Pacific.

The new priority is the highest for "anything that floats," the maritime commission disclosed.

The program for combat transports and combat-loaded cargo vessels calls for the delivery of 243 of these vessels between June, 1944, and June, 1945. So far 50 have been delivered, and the program was described today as "somewhat behind schedule."

Labor shortages in shipyards and failure to obtain delivery of some component parts on schedule were blamed for the construction lag.

Developed from combat experience in the Pacific, the combat transports and combat-loaded cargo carriers are disclosed to work as teams.

While many of the details of the vessels remain secret, they are known to be heavily armed and designed to carry troops and equipment to landing beaches.

NEW PARTNERSHIP A-BORNING

When Earl Browder was communist candidate for president he spoke as a communist. But no more. He has packed the party in camphor for the duration. So when he made a speech the other night in New York it sounded in tone and spirit like a lot of other campaign speeches this election year.

It was on the wild and extravagant side, which is in the best political tradition. It predicted everything just short of the end of the world if Mr. Dewey should be elected.

Mr. Browder's logic was no more flattered by close examination than that of most campaigners. The basis seemed to be that since Mr. Dewey objects to communism in America, his election would wreck all hope of world peace, and would invite every country in Europe to plunge into immediate civil war.

But the thing that impressed us was that Mr. Browder's thought, once the sulphurous smoke had drifted away, was basically similar to that of Harland H. Allen's booklet, "The Businessman's Stake in American-Soviet Friendship."

Mr. Allen doesn't sound like a communist. He is a consulting economist with his own investment management business in Chicago. His main interest, judging from the booklet, is in private enterprise and the interests of businessmen and investors. And for the sake of those interests he feels any postwar friction with Russia might be ruinous.

The war's end, says Mr. Allen, will find this country and Russia in possession of the world's military and industrial power. He suggests the possibility of their fighting it out, as Rome and Carthage did 2000 years ago, or collaborating, as the United States and Russia have in the matter of sea power during the past century.

Mr. Allen makes other sound and obvious points: that Russia offers an excellent postwar market; that we aren't the only country she can trade with; that Russia has licked tough enemies like transportation bottlenecks, food shortages and industrial disruption, as well as the nazis; that this took resourcefulness and character that can work wonders in peace as well as war; that American-Soviet harmony is about the best guarantee of world security.

These may have been some of the things that Mr. Browder was driving at, though certainly not for the reasons. But the point is that the considerations favoring good relations with Russia must be apparent to most thinking Americans—including Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Dewey, Mr. Browder and the National Association of Manufacturers.

We shall probably get along with the Russians and do business with them so long as businessmen have enough voice to be heard in the White House, whoever is living there.

What they say won't please Mr. Browder or speed the revolution. For what business will be urging is a relationship which, oddly enough, should do a lot toward keeping American capitalism a healthy, prosperous, going concern.

JUST THE BEAST IN US

Tucked away on one of the inside pages of the Times-News recently was a story from New York, describing another of those Frank Sinatra demonstrations.

Twenty-five thousand teen-age Sinatra fans stormed a Times square theater where the singer was appearing and caused such a disturbance that police called for heavy reinforcements.

The crowd, shrieking and yelling, rushed police lines, ripped the shirt off one patrolman, smashed the theater's ticket booth, and carried on generally like a mob of hoodlums. Several persons fainted during the excitement.

When Sinatra made his first appearance on the stage, the school-age boys and girls stamped their feet, screamed and ran up and down the aisles, until the pandemonium proved even too much for Sinatra. Not until he threatened to end the show did the uproar subside.

We are not given to preaching that America can youth is going to the dogs, but we sometime wonder if this Sinatra-bobby sox and boogie woogie era we are going through is not significant. We wonder if the savages could have worked themselves into any more of a frenzy by beating on tom-toms. We wonder, too, if this nutty age will not go down in history as a period when civilization was thrown for a heavy loss—and in many more ways than one.

If this is the cycle in which "the barbarian in us starts creeping out," maybe it isn't safe to have things like Sinatra running around loose. After all, it isn't in the cards to build enough cages to hold all the youngsters he apparently is driving mad.

BASIC ALPHABET

Now that V-1 has been conquered, the allies are pressing on toward V-E day before the nazis can bring the promised V-2 and V-3 to bear upon them. And in anticipation of V-E (and, of course, the more distant V-J or just plain V day), the British have begun producing a V-Day new victory uniform for the remarkable (through Berlin).

Washington's alphabetical symbols are becoming positively global.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

(Now on tour, surveying political and reconversion situations.)

NEW YORK CITY—In politically deal involving possible domination of New York City's empire of patronage from 1946 to 1950 may prove the determining factor in the Roosevelt-Dewey contest on this key battleground. Participants in the reported arrangements deny virtuously that they would make a selfish bargain in order to get control of the White House, but the rumors flood headquarters and hotels — and it has been done before.

Ray Tucker

Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia asserts that the GOP has agreed to turn over the city to Tammany in return for its followers' voting Republican or staying away from the polls on Nov. 7. It is alleged that the agreement was negotiated by Thomas J. Curran, the minority's New York county chairman, secretary of state and actuarial opponent of Robert F. Wagner. So far there has been no official disavowal of such a trade, despite private protestations emanating from Albany.

If the "tiger" should lie down on election day, it would be extremely difficult for President Roosevelt to roll up a sufficient metropolitan vote to overcome Thomas E. Dewey's upstate lead. It begins to look now as if FDR will need about the same margin he obtained in the urban districts four years ago if he was 725,000 in 1940.

LA GUARDIA Fiorello's suspicions may directly affect his 1944 campaign plans, his prospective acceptance of an army commission in Italy and his decision on whether he will seek a fourth term next year. Indeed, his fears account for his delay in responding to Roosevelt-Hannegan requests that he stump the nation in an attempt to hold Italian, labor and liberal factions to the same deal standards.

The mayor has given every indication that he will not try to emulate the President by asking for a fourth helping. He has been in and out of public life since the turn of the century, and he would like to rest. Even service in his father's homeland would be only an interim performance. He has set certain ambition to write or teach after he quits city hall with Washington as his probable headquarters. He wants to devote himself to the education of his two children.

But if he should become convinced that the metropolis is in danger of being returned to Tammany hands through behind-the-scenes barter, he may change his mind and have another tilt with the animal which he and the chief executive have crippled. In that event, he would probably demand that the White House in return for his support, promise to back him next November. This his present somewhat standoffish attitude may disappear if FDR says the word.

Mr. La Guardia has made many powerful enemies during his 12 years in office. But he thinks that he is still strong with the mass of the voters and that he would have a good chance even if he were forced to run as an independent. He notes that when he makes a public appeal the response from the people is usually generous and tumultuous.

A Roosevelt-La Guardia pact of this sort for 1945 would be another thorn in the "tiger's" hide. It certainly would not make the hungry district leaders and their adherents feel any kindlier toward the man at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue.

Here is another observation, not to be ironic that the outcome of the presidential election in such an critical moment of world history could be decided by such partisan, parochial considerations. Incidentally, it is generally believed that the general election in 1940 was an important commonwealths may hang on the same sort of political sharpshooting between the lines.

BANKERS—Two groups in Wall street clash rather violently with regard to the presidential candidates, which should not be surprising if the attitude of the opposing factions is supplied material for forthcoming speeches by both contestants.

Bankers most concerned about domestic affairs appear to favor Governor Dewey. They seem to fear that the present administration will not be able to handle the tremendous problems which will confront the country at the end of the conflict—reconversion, unemployment, taxation, surplus property etc.

Those dealing in international finance apparently approve the existing setup. Their foreign ties naturally incline them to less nationalistic or critical uppermost in their minds. Thus it is that Thomas Altschul, a member of the firm of Lazard Freres, a lifelong Republican, and an enthusiastic Dewey backer before Philadelphia in 1940, has contributed $1,000 to the GOP chest, has declared for FDR and has kicked in with a sizable check to the Democratic national committee.

TREATIES—Governor Dewey may astonish the forecasters and politicians in the event of his election and name a man other than Cordell Hull to be his secretary of state. The individual mentioned as a good possibility for this important office is Senator Styles Bridges, New Hampshire.

The New England statesman is not known, particularly for his interest in this field, but he has been a keen student of foreign problems for many years. In the closing days of the campaign he delivered several speeches that occasioned favorable comment on the capitol hill and around the state department. He is an advocate of cooperation with other democratic nations for preservation of world peace, but he does not consider this inconsistent with looking after this nation's interests.

The youngish Styles—he is forty-six—has other assets. He is one of the most popular men of house and senate, and he has no enemies in the legislative body. The next President, whether it be Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Dewey, will need a friend at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue if he hopes to obtain the upper chamber's approval of the treaties and economic agreements. Indeed, that was, perhaps, the main consideration in the appointment of Cordell Hull as secretary of state.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

ICKES WIELDS HIS HATCHET

We don't allow ourselves to get much stirred up about "Honest Harold" Ickes, the ace hatchetman of the new deal, though in our vindictive moments we do reflect with satisfaction that perhaps one of him is a rich dividend that will go with electing Dewey president. Like Popeye of the comic pages, Ickes "am what I am" and nothing can be done about it except that he can be sent to the political showers next January.

But we were intrigued a little by the Ickes speech at Los Angeles the other night, in which he called the Dewey supporters "appeasers" and listed a few numerous public enemies were riding. His theory is that once Dewey is inside the nation's walls the people will arise and disgorge the bunch, who will then perpetrate all sorts of deviltries.

Of course a candidate for president who attracts about half the voters of the country always gets some of the latter's particularly choice brickbats, and encourage includes such worthies as Earl Browder, Sidney Hillman, Bosses Hague, Flynn, Kelly and Pendergast, Harry Bridges and a good many others, none of whom have ever been particularly popular, and has said the communists were not "welcome," in a very mild, listless way.

Who are the people awfula to stack up alongside? They include Hearst, whose deal with Garner was responsible for FDR winning the Democratic nomination in 1932 and whose support was extremely welcome as long as the new deal was in full cry, McCormick of the Chicago Tribune, who has denounced Dewey and accepts him only because he is the only alternative to the new deal's third term, Taft, Republican maverick who supported the new deal several years and has never been in good standing with GOP regulars; Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, who isn't an isolationist or anything else especially objectionable; John Foster Dulles, some of whose past clients are now in Europe but whom Cordell Hull, a pretty good Democrat, cordially accepts as a colleague in peace planning, and other lesser fry.

Significant is the absence of any known criminals or genuine hoodlums, such as we can plausibly list the other camp. Surely there must be some among the 20-odd million persons who will vote for Tom Dewey. But Honest Harold evidently didn't find 'em in his fine tooth comb search. Always dangerous, by the way, getting old and tired too or he would have unearthed at least one.—Nampa Free Press.

"WASHINGTON CALLING" BY MARQUIS CHILDS

LOS ANGELES—While California may have some doubt about the future, there is a deep conviction that this region will become the center of the aircraft industry. Cordiner Hall goes is to be the Detroit of the air age.

Marquis Childs

Talking with designers and manufacturers, you catch something of their enthusiasm. They believe that the new air age is not far away.

They concede there will be difficulties in the transition period: For two or three years, perhaps, while the industry is being scaled down from the 12 months, Lockheed has not been behind on a single war production schedule.

He talks with enthusiasm of Lockheed's plans for the future. Besides two smaller passenger ships, the Saturn and the Constellation, Lockheed is planning to produce the Constitution, which will take a capacity load of 152 paying passengers. It's the kind of ship, Gross explains, which will fly on the run to Hawaii at $100 a round trip, or on the Rio De Janeiro run where the fare will be as low as $150 or $200 both ways.

The steam-rivetted comes into Gross' eyes; however, when he pulls out of his desk drawer a sketch of the light plane he intends some day to manufacture for general use. That, he says, is the big field. You sell a dozen passenger liners to an airline company and that's that, because they last for ten years.

But turn this small plane out to cost about $1,000 and your market, eventually, will be unlimited. Plans for this private plane have gone considerably beyond the sketch stage. Gross assured me that I could fly it if I could drive a motorcycle. Or, for that matter, if I could ride a bicycle. He's playing with helicopters, too, but he believes they're too difficult to operate.

If these men have their way, and they are determined men with the know-how, mass production planes will some day come off assembly lines in southern California.

HISTORY OF TWIN FALLS

AS GLEANED FROM THE FILES OF THE TIMES-NEWS

15 YEARS AGO, OCT. 18, 1929

Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce members in a primary election during the coming week will vote on candidates for the chamber's directorate to be elected this year, and also will mark referendum ballots to express their opinion as to the success of the present parking system in Twin Falls.

27 YEARS AGO, OCT. 18, 1917

Deputy game warden Knox valley said 286 deer had been checked out of there since the opening of the season.

Margaret Lucile Caskey became the bride of Harry A. Brizee, Twin Falls, at Ely today.

C. Oliver Bell, Filer, and Clarence C. Courtney, Rogers, have enlisted in the Second Idaho regiment of the infantry, Shelby Jones Perry, Twin Falls, and Ralph Wilbur Day, Murtaugh, have enlisted in the marine corps.

POT SHOTS

ANY OPINIONS ON THIS?

Dear Pots:

Just what would you call a guy who buys hunting licenses for all his kids and his wife, so he could get deer permits on them, and he shoot the deer, and so he could sign their names to get ammunition, and he use the ammunition, and let the family sit at home!

WHAT'S MERE 450 YEARS?

Dear Pot Shots:

Answering "Whatdoyathinkabout-it." in Times-News should suggize to the world when they pull a bull like the one in our set-up on Columbus. Our carbon copy shows old Chris sighted South America on his third voyage in 1498 and here you print it 1948. Oh what's the use? But after all, what's a difference of 450 years between friends?

FINIS ON THE WAGON

This ought to close the books on that little matter which produced plenty of colyum discussion a while back—the horse freighter that went over Blue lakes grade in the early days.

Now comes E. M. Willis, Twin Falls, with an actual photograph he dug up. The photo proves the contention that the freighter was pulled by four horses, and it shows three of the horses plus the scattered load. The load, it's now positive, was lath.

Mr. Willis, who found the old photo buried in a trunk, says it was taken by Tacha's studio, Shoshone, if anybody recalls same. While himself was freighting at the time, 1904 or early 1905—and the wreck involved his outfit—he was not the driver-in-law, Wallace Johnson. Willis was right behind Johnson at the time with another wagon. At the bottom of the grade they stopped, both wagons and transferred Willis' horses to Johnson's rig to get a four-horse outfit for the long pull. The accident occurred as result of a cave-in at the edge of the road. Johnson got one horse loose—the other three and the wagon went over.

So that finishes that for the benefit of pioneers among our constituents.

VITAL DECISION

Friend Potsie:

Dunno if you do or if you don't, but I'm assure you that for many of us oldsters the heavy question of the day is, should we put 'em on now or wait another couple of weeks.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—As I may have told you, I am, by happy social and temperamental quirk, an admiring friend of Jimmy Petrillo, the president of the American Federation of Musicians, a racket licensed as a labor union of the who has told the war labor board where to go and supplied a roadmap for its guidance and given President Roosevelt top priority for the same trip.

Westbrook Pegler

We meet now and again in the lobby or the men's bar of the Waldorf-Astoria where Petrillo maintains a pied-a-terre, and, on a recent night, good fortune threw us together for a pleasant evening on the century, devoted to that which, in the language of Mrs. Roosevelt, is called interesting discussion and, in our quaint, underworld patois, kicking the gong around.

That night, as often before, I congratulated my friend on his excessive conduct as a union racketeer and again urged him to take every advantage of the law as given him by President Roosevelt to the end that, in time, his patron would be publicly embarrassed and the people so outraged that congress would be forced to revise the laws affecting unions. It is gratifying to me to read that Jimmy has done this in refusing a personal request from Mr. Roosevelt to yield a fraction of the years so recklessly conferred on him by the new deal. I feel that, by this oblique approach, I have achieved a more startling effect than might have resulted from a large measure of argument, citation and emotion.

Of course, credit must be given to old Joe Padway, the hoodlum's mouthpiece, who has been serving Jimmy's rackets as counsel these last two years or so, for Padway knows the law better than any professional unioner with the possible exception of John L. Lewis. But I think Brother Joe would have assured Jimmy that his course was just and consistent with the interests of labor with an upper case L whereas I have always taken the more truthful position that Petrillo's conduct was so atrocious and arrogant that, in time, he might, unwittingly, become the great reformer of his time.

Brother Padway is general counsel for the American Federation of Labor and for Uncle Dan Tobin's teamsters and the movie and radio operatical employees' union, or racket, whose late, revered leaders, Bioff and Brown, at last reports were rusticating at a pleasant federal jail, awaiting release under that automatic amnesty which the new deal extends to murderers and thieves of the correct political faith.

Having received, by his own account, $1,000 from George Scalise, of the Capone mob, ostensibly for writing a constitution for the building trades racket, Padway subsequently testified to the attorney-general that Scalise, like Bioff, an entrepreneur of his acquaintance, is a person of fleckless character a few months before Scalise was convicted of robbing his subjects of vast amounts.

Brother Will Green, the president of the American Federation of Labor, endorsed this opinion and Green, Padway and Uncle Dan Tobin often sat in the councils of the A. F. of L. with Brother Brown who was an honored member of its executive body until he went to jail.

Moreover, a little over a year ago by Mr. Roosevelt's invitation, Brothers Tobin and Padway flew to Britain on a special mission to the great body of British labor so you will observe that, altogether, Brother Padway ranks high among the professional political defenders of labor's gains whereas my own status is that of a labor-hating, red-baiting stooge of the forces of opposition.

Brother Padway's income from the practice of laborism is something too enormous for the comprehension of those who pay the dues, from the mass of which, in turn, his fees are paid. But it cannot be said that he does not know his stuff, besides which his political position at court is not to be ignored in computing his value as counsel to a union racketeer.

So here, strangely, you find Pegler and Brother Padway giving the same advice and counsel to Jimmy Petrillo, though never the twain have met, and Jimmy himself long firm in his refusal to rescind or even moderate his decision to levy a tax on every single unit of a popular commodity, namely phonograph and juke recordings.

The money does not pass into the hands of needy musicians. It remains in the treasury with no obligation that so much as a nickel of it be spent for the want of an indigent Saturday night saxophonist. It is, moreover, a tax on the general public, not the manufacturers of recordings, who pass the cost along to the customers and the precedent invites the mine workers, the garment and clothing workers and all other unions to collect, taxes on all articles for consumption or use without the slightest pretense that the money will be employed to needy members in times of unemployment or any explanation or accounting whatever. Already, Jimmy's treasury contains four million dollars and he anticipates a hundred million more.

This device so often disregarded that I naturally admire the wisdom of Mr. Petrillo in accepting mine. Once, when he was cited to face a contempt charge of this sense I asked me what he ought to do and I told him to tell them to go to hell because he was not receiving gratuities which had been placed in his hands by the senators, themselves. I was proud to read, a few days later, that he had in very practical effect, followed my counsel and had got away with it. That incident and the current correspondence with Mr. Roosevelt in which, again Jimmy compliments my firm sagacity, is every more gratifying.

I trust that it will stand pat and that labor will see in this case another instance of its betrayal by those it has trusted. Petrillo is a president who then pleads with the racketeer to be reasonable but resigns as a person of fleckless character a few months before Scalise was convicted of robbing his subjects of vast amounts.

BOOM—From time to time postbellum job opportunities in specific branches of industry will be explained in this column. Today's tips are mainly for the returning veteran or former war worker who wants to be his own boss.

There is no short cut to riches. Before a lad in a foxhole or crow's nest can afford to be an independent butcher, baker or candlestick maker, he should ask questions of everyone familiar with the field and study the subject from all angles.

For example, the general economic condition of a section affect business. Should there be unusual lity, luxury vendors could make a lot of money. If there is deflation, persons in the building trades, and repairmen and undertakers would get along.

Wichita, Kans., $6,000 out of 45,000 employes of new victory plants told investigators that they planned to stay in the vicinity after the armistice. Seventy per cent of those questioned declared they hoped to go into business for themselves.

The army-navy will soon distribute booklets prepared by the department of commerce, which describes various vocations. That incident and the current correspondence with Mr. Roosevelt in which, again Jimmy compliments my firm sagacity, is every more gratifying.

I trust that it will stand pat and that labor will see in this case another instance of its betrayal by those it has trusted. Petrillo is a president who then pleads with the racketeer to be reasonable but resigns as a person of fleckless character a few months before Scalise was convicted of robbing his subjects of vast amounts.

ANALYZING CURRENT NEWS FROM NEW YORK

VETERANS—It is quite natural for a veteran to say, "I've slept standing in mess lines, of being bawled out by top kicks, of saluting shavetails. When I get out of this man's army, Joe, I'm going to run my own business and take orders from nobody."

Albert Lasman

Good luck to you, Mr. Jones. With the amount of cash Uncle Samuel will make available when you don civvies you will have a better chance to start out independently than did your dad. But take the advice of New York's successful executives, who have learned from their own companies on shoestrings after they were honorably discharged in 1919: Look before you leap.

BOOM—From time to time postbellum job opportunities in specific branches of industry will be explained in this column. Today's tips are mainly for the returning veteran or former war worker who wants to be his own boss.

There is no short cut to riches. Before a lad in a foxhole or crow's nest can afford to be an independent butcher, baker or candlestick maker, he should ask questions of everyone familiar with the field and study the subject from all angles.

For example, the general economic condition of a section affect business. Should there be unusual lity, luxury vendors could make a lot of money. If there is deflation, persons in the building trades, and repairmen and undertakers would get along.

Wichita, Kans., $6,000 out of 45,000 employes of new victory plants told investigators that they planned to stay in the vicinity after the armistice. Seventy per cent of those questioned declared they hoped to go into business for themselves.

VOCATIONS — One prosperous eastern manufacturer says, "Knowledge of a trade, in addition to a talent is absolutely necessary. If you had no experience, take any subordinate position in a firm so you can learn what it's all about. A year spent as an employe will return big dividends when you are running your own business."

The army-navy will soon distribute booklets prepared by the department of commerce, which describes various vocations. The Richmond, Va., Chamber of Commerce has created a board of 10 business leaders to counsel ex-yoks, or ex-generals, who want to operate model shops and garages. Many other cities have similar service.

The committee for economic de-

FINANCES — Uncle Sam will guarantee loans through regular lending agencies But a borrower must convince the bankers and the government representatives that the grant will not be taxed down a ratchole. Here is a typical case in a returning veteran demonstrate that he knows something about the field in which he plans to sink his nest egg.

George B. Beitzel, a leading Philadelphia businessman who is himself a veteran of the last war, cites this common sense advice: "Don't start unless you have adequate capital more than any one reason, this is the cause of failure in a small business. Money hardly ever turns over as fast as we hope it will."

REWARDS—As the boy in barracks dreams about tomorrow, he should also think of essential odds about the obvious possibilities. But also ponder the prospect of doing something different. There's a pot of gold at the end of a successful inventor's rainbow.

Yet according to R. J. Dearborn, president of the Texaco Development corporation and secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers' committee on patents, only 14,000 patents were granted in the first six months of 1944—a reduction of more than 30 per cent from the 20,000 granted for the same period in 1939.

Our research laboratories, technical and young specialists have been conducting all of their experiments and have been obliged to neglect improving civilian conveniences.

The introduction of new metals, plastics and other materials after the war may stimulate innovations in their use. One canny creature's demand for can openers for which housewives were forced to pay 50 cents each. A manufacturer devised a superior type of opener which he could sell for 10 cents. The gadget turned a fortune for him. Rewards are awaiting bright young men.

VFW REVEALS GI RELEASE PLANKS

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18 (AP)—Demobilization procedure which will give combat disabled veterans first discharge preference is a policy to be supported by the national council of administration, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Jean A. Brunner, Forest Hills, N. Y., V. F. W. commander-in-chief, attending a two-day session of executive members of the organization here, said the council today approved a program of 14 basic policies which will be supported during the next general months.

Procedure Asked

One of the policies calls for demobilization procedure which will give discharge preference in the following order: Combat disabled veterans; those with longest periods of combat service; those with longest periods of foreign service; those with the longest periods of home service, along with hardship and dependency cases.

The council also approved policies which will permit the United States to participate, as a sovereign power, in a world association to maintain peace, using force if necessary, and to inform our people through full publicity as to preliminary negotiations between the United States and allied nations."

Policies Listed

Other policies included:

"Immediate adoption of a compulsory peacetime military training program and inclusion of combat veterans in the U. S. delegation to the peace conference."

Brunner said earlier that the Veterans of Foreign Wars will press with the government a proposal that one-third of the jobs on federal-sponsored projects be reserved for returning servicemen.

New Air Group to Seek Lost Planes

POCATELLO ARMY AIR FIELD, Oct. 18—A search and rescue unit, formed by the second air force to search for lost planes and crews and give aid to fliers forced down in uninhabited mountain and sagebrush country, has been assigned to the Pocatello army air field.

The arrival of the unit makes the local field the key station of search and rescue activities in the intermountain area. It is headed by Major John H. Rearden, a veteran World war I flier.

Brought here through the efforts of Lt. Col. John L. Eaton, commanding officer of the Pocatello field, to give pilots all possible safety and security in training, the organization is one of four established at second air force bases.

While the unit is set up for army use, facilities are also made available to civilian or commercial rescue work. "In time, these units will undoubtedly be to aviation what the coast guard is to shipping," Major Rearden declared.

SEIZED AIRBASE VITAL TO YANKS

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

A U. S. NINTH AIR FORCE BASE in France, Oct. 18 (U.P.)—Captured from the Germans only a few weeks ago, this airfield—one of the largest in France—has become probably the busiest operational base on the continent.

In adequate flying weather there's hardly a minute between dawn and dusk when American planes aren't landing or taking off.

Jointly Used

The field is used jointly by a Thunderbolt fighter group commanded by Col. Robert DeLashaw, San Antonio, Tex., and a photographic reconnaissance group commanded by Col. Russell A. B. Berry, Chicago. In addition it is one of several landing points for supply planes from the United Kingdom.

"We also pick up a lot of unexpected trade," said Capt. George Brinkerhoff, Riverside, Calif., ground officer in the reconnaissance outfit, explaining both American and British and American pilots whose planes are damaged in combat often land here when unable to make it back to their own bases.

Room for All

Because of its unusual size this field has room enough for all, but it is difficult to see how operations staffs keep things running smoothly without occasional mixups in takeoffs or landings.

"It reminds me of the circus," said Brinkerhoff.

"Those cargo planes come in here nose to tail like elephants in a parade."

"We found nearly everything we needed in a depot captured from the Germans, including lumber, plate glass, nails, stoves, tables and chairs," said Capt. Paul Eisman, New Albany, Ind., supply officer.

Auxiliary Plans Honor Roll Work

GOODING, Oct. 18 — Plans were made for the completion of Gooding county honor-roll for servicemen and women at the regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary. The group met at the home of Mrs. Elsie Cox. Mrs. Bertha Robinson and Miss Edna Robinson assisting.

Mrs. Ruby Clemons presided for the business meeting. It was voted to continue the monthly contribution to the cheer basket for the Veteran's hospital, Boise, and the usual donations for the gift table maintained by the auxiliary for the families of disabled veterans of the hospital. The unit hopes to have the honor-roll completed as a permanent record for the public within a short time.

Auxiliary members will again solicit for the war fund drive now in progress.

Mrs. Mary Lisle Blodgett gave a report on the fourth district meeting at Richfield, Oct. 9.

Hayes Calls for Expansion of City in Rotary Club Address

The extensive growth Twin Falls has realized in the few years since first established was outlined Tuesday by John E. Hayes, city engineer and one of those surveying the original townsite, as he spoke to members of the Twin Falls Rotary club in regular weekly session.

"Two weeks ago you heard the first chapter of the Twin Falls expansion serial," Hayes said. "Later you heard echoes from the greivance convention. The greivance convention seemed to reveal a lack of faith in our town. Some were there who doubted that much progress had been made—so I decided to do a little research in an attempt to discover how far we HAVE come.

Had Only Sagebrush

"In the beginning, God created the heaven and the earth, and aside from a few geological fluctuations, this portion remained as created until 1903 when the Twin Falls project came into being. In early 1902 this area was a vast sagebrush covered plain.

"No water, no trees, no residents, no farms. This stark and irrigation project was constructed by the Twin Falls Land and Water company. Water was diverted from the Snake river into the canal system on March 1, 1905. Thirty-nine years ago.

"Land seekers came and paid $25.50 per acre for land and water. Today, after 39 short years as time is measured, you see this magnificent business venture of 400 square miles where wealth by the millions has been produced.

"As a going concern, this project now has a value greatly in excess of 100 millions of dollars. This is a man-made community, financed with private capital."

Measures Progress

In answering the question "how far have we come?" the city engineer said:

"From non-productive waste land to the greatest irrigating project extant. From ferries to the rim-to-rim bridges; from the stage coach to the regularly scheduled air route."

He pointed out that progress is measured from the beginning, rather than the distance we are from the ultimate goal.

"Let us take a look down the long road and see how far we have come since that day in May, 1904, when the first filing was made for a townsite here on section 16. This town is here because man had faith.

"We have come from a trail through sagebrush to 60 miles of concrete sidewalks; from hub-deep dust and mud to 40 miles of paved streets; from canvas water bags to a water system valued at one and one-half million dollars; from bedded Jeries' under the bed to white porcelain fixtures; from the gunnysack cooler, to electric refrigeration."

Lists Assets

He pointed out that the original townsite incorporated 540 acres, the present townsite 1,410 acres and the proposed inclusions would bring this to 2,470 acres. The present population is 13,000 and the value of real property is $33,950,411.

"We have 46 miles of streets, 22 miles of alleys, 60 miles of concrete curbs. These are evaluated at $2,403,820.

"We have 27.5 miles of sanitary sewers evaluated at $240,811. The original trunk-line sewer, constructed in 1906-7 cost $6,000 just a little over three miles long, cost $40,757.

The speaker pointed out that electrical consumption on Twin Falls is "twice that of the national average." The surrounding agricultural area is 90 per cent electrified, he stated, which is also better than twice the national average.

State Third Largest

"Yes," he said, "we have come from a square mile of sagebrush, staked out for town lots in 1904, to the third largest city in Idaho and with the facilities valued at $38,120,172. This amounts to $27,035 per acre for the entire 1,410 acres now within the city boundaries. This originally cost $6,775, or 50 cents per acre for the Carey act land and $10 per acre for the school land."

Hayes said that "the originators of the plan for the development of the Twin Falls tract and the Twin Falls townsite were obliged to depend on the faith and creative ability of other men. We have reason to believe that the builders of today will hold that same faith in their fellow men, and that same ability to receive the almost limitless possibilities of this, our Magic Valley."

As to Possibilities

"What are the possibilities of this country that the Maker and

SOVIET WILL NOT TURN CAPITALIST

CHICAGO, Oct. 18 (AP)—Although a new "high society" has emerged in Russia as a wartime manifestation, Russia is not turning capitalistic, Henry Cassidy, former chief of the Associated Press bureau in Moscow, told the Inland Daily Press association.

"Russia's future has been forgotten for the time being while its past has been revived in literature, drama and the arts," Cassidy said.

He said uniforms and decorations, as well as evening dress, had become increasingly commonplace in contrast to the modest garb affected in high society prior to the war.

"The present system," he said, "is going to consolidate itself and root itself in the Russian past, although the basis of the Soviet state is unchanged. Their nationalized industry and collectivized agriculture the Russians do not intend to change. They consider their former government has been proved successful during the war."

Cassidy said true communism has never existed in the Soviet union.

"The ideal," he said, "is 'from each according to his ability, to each according to his need.' The way it has worked out has been 'to each according to his work.' That doesn't mean they are reverting to capitalism; they have a system of state capitalism as compared with our private capitalism."

Ruler has entrusted to us?"

"Only the prophet could answer, for we never know what, in its fullness development, it has in store to be. We do not so much as know what an acorn is, until we know the tree that has grown out of it," he concluded.

Visitors at the session included Stuart Rolfe, son of the Rev. E. Leslie Rolfe; T. L. Baker, Rotarian from San Pedro, Calif.; Fergus Briggs, president of the Pocatello club, and Gordon Frost, Leland Bush and Martell Yates, senior high school students who were guests under the Jaycee youth guidance program.

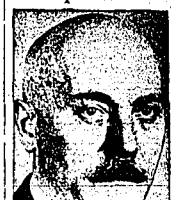
Liquidated?



Swedish reports declare that Count Friedrich Werner von der Schulenburg, above, the last German ambassador to Moscow and a creator of the 1939 Russo-German non-aggression pact, has been shot by a nazi elite guard firing squad for alleged complicity in the attempt on Hitler's life last July.

AUTUMN WEATHER MAY SLOW YANKS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

One of the most urgent facts confronting both sides in the European war is that this is the eighteenth day of October.

This means that in two or three weeks, unless normal conditions, autumn rains will begin in earnest. Awful mud—some of the world's worst—will turn the battlefields of the eastern and western theaters into morasses which will bog down armies. Storms will impair the efficiency of the air fleets either for fighting or as the eyes of the ground forces.

Usual Autumn

That's to say, if Europe gets its usual autumn, the allies have a fortnight or so to launch offensives to break Hitler's frontier defenses and set their armies raging through the reich. And by the same token, this is the critical period in which the nazi dictator must use every means available to stand off his enemies until the bad weather comes to his aid.

All this fits in with the German insistence that both the western allies and the Russians are on the verge of great new offensives. Indeed, Berlin says the two armies already have struck.

Front Attack

The western front is in a ferment. The Germans, acting on their own forecast, have been counter-attacking heavily along the crucial northern flank of General Eisenhower's armies. These attacks are calculated to keep the allies off balance and so hamper their launching of an all-out drive.

The American and British armies have increased their pressure on the nazis, especially along the fifty mile front extending from Aachen up to the Dutch town of Venray.

Keep your eye on that sector from Aachen north to Arnhem. It's hot.

Sergeant Returns From Pacific Zone

SHOSHONE, Oct 18 S Sgt. Tony Sabala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sabala, Shoshone, is home on furlough from duty in the Pacific area, where he has served 32 months.

He enlisted in March, 1940, and was stationed in the Hawaiian Islands during the attack on Pearl Harbor. He has also seen service in Australia, New Guinea and other islands.

After leaving Australia, the remainder of his service was spent in New Guinea, and while there the only things to hold his interest were the natives who, he says, "were small and very sturdy for their size."

Sergeant Sabala took part in one major campaign and in a number of patrols.

On completion of his furlough, he will report to Santa Barbara, Calif., for reassignment.

RETURNS ON LEAVE

SHOSHONE, Oct 18—Pfc Lee Francis Grosse son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grosse and brother of Edwin Grosse arrived here after 22 months overseas duty in the south Pacific area. He was accompanied by his wife who has been living in Bremerton, Wash.

He entered the service in April 1942.

TAYLOR ASSAILS GOP FRUSTRATION

By The Associated Press

Republican candidates, asserts Democrat Glen Taylor, embrace the "hopeless philosophy of frustration" which is the chief former President Hoover advanced.

Hoover saw such dangers in economic planning, Taylor said in an address last night at Mountain Home, "that he thought the spiritual life of the nation could better afford 12,000,000 unemployed Americans selling apples in the street and lining sidewalks six deep for a handout, than to invade the sacred privacies of rugged individualism by having the government step in to regulate business and distribute the nation's wealth."

Raps Opponent

Taylor, Democratic nominee for United States senator, said his Republican opponent, Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen, "still clings doggedly to this hopeless philosophy of frustration and Mr. Dewey is the national emblem."

William H. Detweiler, Hazelton, Republican gubernatorial nominee, campaigning in north Idaho, said in a press statement released by state Republican headquarters that the problem of law enforcement and good government is a national one. "I cannot understand," he said, "how anyone can reconcile fundamental doctrines of thrift, self-support, individual responsibility, honor and integrity with past philosophies of the new deal."

Ask GOP Choice

In a radio address at Nampa, State Rep. Erwin S. Schwiebert, Caldwell, a member of the College of Idaho faculty, urged election of all Republican nominees for state offices.

Describing their background he said they are "candidates who believe in employing businesslike methods in state government; . . . in preserving maximum individual freedom consistent with necessary regulation to prevent abuses and favoritism, . . . have a wholesome respect for constitutional government, and who are looking to the future, realizing that we must employ fundamental principles of Americanism if America is to realize her destiny."

ARGENTINE NAZI PRESS SUSPENDS

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 18.(U.P.)—The German language newspaper La Plata Zeitung and the Italian Daily Mattino d'l alla were closed today as the government in an official decree prohibited the dissemination of axis propaganda in Argentina.

The decree, signed by all ministers at a cabinet meeting last night, specifically named the two publications for immediate closure and indicated similar action would be carried out against any other newspaper favoring nations with which Argentina had severed relations.

The decree asserted that since the government broke relations with Germany and Japan the "firm desire of the Argentine government of enforcing without restrictions all measures derived from such a rupture . . . cannot be distorted by acts of private persons."

Informed quarters believed the decree would be used to curb anti-allied propaganda carried by several local newspapers, including Cabildo, La Fronda and El Federal.

The decree was interpreted as an answer to U. S Secretary of State Cordell Hull's recent criticism of such propaganda.

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and tired.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any druggists. Only 10c and 25c.

AT THE USO Center

One of the thrills at the USO center these days is observing the reactions of the sailors and marines after receiving their honorable discharge papers from Sun Valley.

"It was a joy to see a sailor hurrying to accept a job as a taxi driver for a local cab company, after he had been discharged. His first job came so soon after his dismissal from the service, that he was really thrilled," Mrs. H. G. Lauterbach, a senior hostess at the center, described the incident.

"If you ever saw a pleased lad, he was it. He changed into his civilian clothes here at the center and checked his uniform and baggage."

Mrs. Lauterbach is the wife of Col. Herbert G. Lauterbach, corps of engineers, Twin Falls, who recently was awarded the silver star for courage in action. He was decorated for bravery at Biak island in the Pacific.

Another sailor popped into the USO Tuesday afternoon, and hailed Mrs. Albert Benoit and Mrs. Leth A. Chapin with "Say can I check this gear here for a couple of days?"

They assured him that he could, and he opened his ditty bag, before handing it over. "THIS I take with me," he said as he produced a certificate of honorable discharge from the navy.

"I'm going to get this framed, the first thing I do. And then I'm going to stick around for a few days and get acquainted with southern Idaho before I take off. And I want to say this . . . I've spent more time in the USO here that at any place I've been stationed. I like the brand of service you dish out," he added.

Civilians take so many things for granted, that every now and then it jerks you up with a start when you hear servicemen eulogizing what we regard as a commonplace commodity or food.

Mrs. E. H. Gyer brought some choice grapes to the USO the other day, and you should have heard the "ohs" and "ahs," followed by gulps, as some of the fellows from Sun Valley "launched" into them hungrily.

"We haven't had grapes in two and a-half years," one of the marines explained.

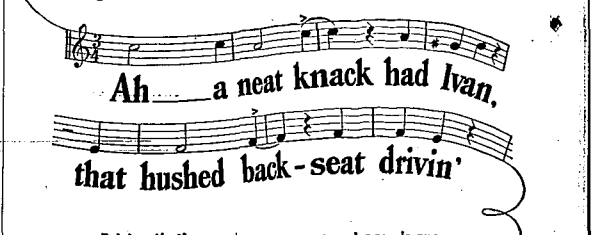
Just a little Better . . . but what a difference!



Driving that's easy on passengers and cars is one far-reaching good outcome of War!
Handling the wheel and pedals like a professional became a wartime necessity. It favored the car—and quit scaring the rear-seat riders. Now it's a great point of pride. Yet an even more envied proof of fine car-sense is to own an engine that isn't showing its age. That demands sparing your engine from acids; from fiercely corrosive acids inside. You can do it by having your engine OIL-PLATED. All you need is a change to Conoco Nth motor oil...oil that OIL-PLATES.
In the extra-limited seasonal driving that's now the rule, your engine "hoards" a surplus of acids. Every explosion adds to these acids. You don't drive enough for engine heat to eject them safely. But they won't go biting right through OIL-PLATING! This highly corrosion-resistant surfacing is attached all over your engine's fine inner finish as if by magnetism—an effect you must credit to costly pioneer research, responsible for the special ingredient in popular-priced Conoco Nth oil, patented.
You can't apply keener intelligence to the car that must last you, than to equip it with an OIL-PLATED engine—simply by changing to Conoco Nth oil for Winter. Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station knows your correct grade. Go now. Continental Oil Company

Mrs. W. W. Thomas, one of the leading dramatic readers of southern Idaho, gave a notably outstanding presentation of the play "Harriett" for 75 members and guests at the initial meeting of Drama and Literature department of Twentieth Century club Tuesday, in American Legion auxiliary rooms.

The play which is based on the story of the life of Harriett Beecher Stowe and her family during the period from 1830 to 1863, up to and including Civil war days, and incidents inspiring her to write "Uncle Tom's Cabin," has been running in New York for more than a year starring Helen Hayes in the part of Harriett.

The splendid portrayal by Mrs. Thomas was a rare treat to all who heard her.

The literary section of the program featured four short book reviews by Mrs. Herman Schurger, who presented them in such a vivid and interesting manner her listeners could not help but be inspired to read the books which included "The Robe," by Lloyd C. Douglas; "They Came to London," by Paul Tudori; "Lost Island," by James Norman Hall; and "Journey in the Dark," by Martin Flavin.

The hostess committee included Mrs. H. C. Gritzert, Mrs. R. A. Severin, Mrs. Charles Casey, Mrs. C. R. Sherwood and Mrs. F. G. Hovorka. CARE OF YOUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

Children seem to be happiest in their play when they can use their creative imagination. The more power they have in that field, the less use they have for elaborate toys. A stick does very well for a charger, a man, woman, policeman, the king or the witch.

It often happens that when an adult sees a child using a stock for a personage, a rag for a sail, a bit of broken crockery for a dish, that in pity they rush to the shop to buy the "real toy." That is not always a good idea because for the child, his stick is as real to him as the thing he is thinking about. The manufactured toy is not that creature but a doll, a tin soldier, a clay dish.

Long ago I knew a little girl who lived on a farm. She played house under a hedge. Her house was a ground plan drawn on the earth with a stick. The furniture was made of burdock burrs, elegantly upholstered by the purple blossom and on special occasions with scraps of velvet from the ragbag.

Her most treasured possession was a collection of bits of broken glass and china. They were her kitchen and dining service. She served tea for the guests, tiny penny dolls wrapped about with gay calico, with these bits of colored glass and china. Her affectionate aunt thought it a shame that the child had no real dishes. She bought a complete set of fine china, doll size and presented them with much delight.

The little girl looked at the splendid gift with grave interest, fingered the lovely little cups and saucers, the quaint teapot and the charming little pitchers and said, "Aren't they nice, mother? Just like yours. Please put them away for me until I am big like you." Then seeing a shadow on her beloved aunt's face, she said, "I'll only use them when I serve tea for the Queen," adding quickly as an afterthought, "but I don't expect her this year."

Let the old collection alone. They are stimulants for that most precious quality, the creative imagination.

A wheel, the right size, a wagon, some good sized blocks, a doll, some plastic clay, are great helps. A few well used, well beloved toys will do more for a child than a closetful of do-nothing toys.

Invasion Scene, Act II

Yesterday was Act I.

Same beachhead scene. Same — except today there are no screaming bombs, no burning tanks, no convulsive shells tearing big holes in the ground. Same scene, but today the guys up there on the beach put on the show.

They're ready for Act II. They've pushed the enemy back a few miles. Here comes Act II. Here comes the U.S.O. Camp Show!

Our guys need this show. They need it desperately, like starving men need food. For an hour or two they'll go back to America . . . back to Broadway, Hollywood, Main Street . . . back a thousand miles from this beachhead. They need to laugh, to forget.

They need it, understand?

Thanks to the folks back home, U.S.O. Camp Show units have played in every combat zone, often immediately behind the front lines. More than 90 units are playing the "Foxhole"; more than 80 units appear regularly at camps and hospitals in the western hemisphere.

It costs money to operate the world's biggest theatrical circuit. Even though most stage and screen stars donate their services without charge, it still costs a lot of money to send hundreds of other performers. Every cent must come from part of the money you give to your local community drive.

Your gift helps your neighbors at home, too! Local services supported by this one drive include family and child welfare work, hospital and clinical projects, settlement work, maternity care of wives of servicemen, day care for children of war workers.

Give once for all these. There are many war needs to cover. Give now—at least a day's pay. Give all you can!

Duke Back Called Greatest Natural Gridiron Player

By FRED STABLEY

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Oct. 18 (AP)—"He's the greatest natural football player I've ever seen," says Bainbridge coach Joe Montrief of the 19-year-old Charley Justice, while Duke coach Eddie Cameron chortles that those kind words and rubs his hands in glee.

Montrief, whose Commodores haven't been beaten since the start of football at Bainbridge in 1943 got that way by watching the Asheville (N. C.) high school graduate pick up where he left off last year and ramble to six touchdowns and 25 yards per carrying attempt in the Commodores' first three 1944 victories, including an unbelievable 83-yard job against the Camp Lejeune marines two Saturdays ago.

Cameron is sleeping well despite his unsuccessful Duke team because he apparently has the inside track on the kid's services after the war. Justice has told intimates "It's Duke for me."

Cold statistics tell the story. In three games this year Justice has carried the ball from scrimmage just nine times for 186 yards; intercepted a pass and run 51 yards; carried a kickoff back 17 yards and run back five punts for 145 yards. The grand total is 390 yards for 10 tries, or 25 yards every time he got his hands on the ball.

The part they don't tell is the fire eating line of football—he has been dressed and waiting in an empty dressing room three hours before a game—his ability to learn quickly from mistakes, his vicious blocking, good kicking and ability to shift directions bewilderingly on the dead run.

Last year he was a surprise David —weighing 165—among a flock of giants. This year he is Bainbridge's No. 1 contender for all-service honors.

Feather Title Contest Sought

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (U.P.)—The National Boxing association is campaigning for a title match between Willie Pep and Sal Bartolo to settle the six-year old dispute over the world featherweight crown, Abe J. Greene, president of the N. B. A. disclosed today.

Pep of Hartford, Conn., is recognized as 126-pound king by New York and affiliated states, Bartolo of Boston by the N. B. A. They are successors in the line of dual "champions" who sprouted shortly after Henry Armstrong vacated the title because of weight in 1938.

Greene indicated that Bartolo was eager for a decisive match with Pep, and that it could be arranged "if the sponsors of Pep will not impose impossible barriers."

Meanwhile Bartolo has been ordered to defend his N. B. A. laurels against some other worthy challenger. The association has issued a similar order to Juan Zurita of Mexico, N. B. A. lightweight champion. Both assured Greene that they would make defenses after a couple of warm-up bouts.

THE BIG GAME . . NO. 6

Thorpe Caught Public Eye Defeating Harvard

* * * *

By RED GRANGE

The Original Man-in-Motion

Jim Thorpe first captured the imagination of the football world by beating a powerful Harvard team practically single-handed, Nov. 11, 1911.

The game was bitterly contested. First one team, then the other, took the lead until the middle of the final period. Then, with the score tied at 15-all, Thorpe, his kicking leg in bandages and the ankle swelling rapidly, stood in midfield on fourth down and as the Crimson horde crashed in upon him, coolly place-kicked the ball between the uprights for a field goal that spelled victory for Carlisle, 18-15.

Percy D. Haughton, coaching Harvard, an overwhelming favorite, started his second string figuring on the psychological effect of making the Indians feel inferior. It was the first time a reserve team had started a big game for the Crimson.

Harvard scored a touchdown—it counted only five points in those days—in the opening quarter, converted and led, 6-0.

Carlisle obtained possession on the Cambridge 12 toward the end of the period. It appeared unlikely that the Redskins could make the required yardage in four downs. Thorpe, not yet recovered from injuries sustained in repelling Lafayette, place-kicked from a difficult angle for three points.

Ran Down Interference

Big Jim repeated the feat from the 29-yard line on last down in the second quarter. He put Carlisle in front with another from the 34 in the third period.

Then Harvard rallied, scored a touchdown and a field goal.

Just before the quarter ended Thorpe dashed his tactics. Taking the ball on his own 30, the remarkable Sac and Fox yelled to his interference: "Get out of my way!" In nine plays he battled his way to within scoring distance and Carlisle went over for a touchdown. Big Jim converted, tying the score.

Then came the final quarter and with it Harvard's vaunted first team, fresh and eager, swarmed into the fray. But they proved even easier for the tired Redskins than their lowlier brethren.

"Harvard got the ball in the center of the field," recalls Thorpe. "We failed to gain, found ourselves on Harvard's 46 on fourth down. My leg was pretty sore and I was very tired. So were the rest of the boys. There was no use bucking for a first down.

"It was now or never for a place-kick. The goal was a lot farther than I had ever tried before, but I felt I could do it.

"As long as I live I'll never forget that moment, standing there in the center of the field, the biggest crowd I'd ever seen looking on, the score tied and the game depending on my kick. I was too tired to be nervous.

"The ball came back square and true, I swung my leg with all the power I could command and the ball went sailing off to cut squarely between the posts.

"There were several minutes left to play, but I felt the game, figuring it would make the Harvard players feel we thought they didn't have a chance. When the gun was fired we had beaten Harvard and I had experienced the greatest thrill I ever got in football.

Great man, Jim Thorpe.

NEXT: Yale and Dartmouth's spectacular 33-33 tie.

Solon-Pirate Tilt Postponed

The gridiron contest that had the earmarks of the "game of the week" — that between the unbeaten Hagerman Pirates and the Gooding Solons—won't be played this week.

Coach Elmer Parke of Gooding said that because the school was in recess on account of the harvest his players have had no chance to practice. Most of the players are working in the harvest fields.

Parke said that he hopes to reschedule the game for a November date.

Meanwhile it was announced by Coach Hank Powers of the Twin Falls Bruins that the game between the Bruins and Idaho Falls set for Nov. 5 would not be played until Nov. 17. This will give the Bruins now on harvest vacation, a chance to practice for the contest.

Idaho Falls was agreeable to the change.

Woman Plunger Bets Big Sums on Horses 'to Show'

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 18 (AP)—A mysterious "woman in red" has plunged $25,000 to win $2,500 in show bets within a few days at Rockingham Park horse race track.

And newspapermen, who have seen her or her agent cash winning tickets, say that's only the half of it.

They've observed her cashing handfuls of tickets, not only at "the Rock" but at other New England tracks.

One widely known turf authority says she has yet to lose a bet either at Rockingham here or Narragansett in Rhode Island.

And her system, the newsmen add, is to stick to favorites to show.

Last Saturday she created a minus pool when she wagered $15,000 that way in the feature race. The money was on Johnny Junior.

The big bet resulted in a loss of $2,315.54 to the track on the one event. It happened again Monday.

The tracks wouldn't release an estimate of her gains but admitted they were "very aware" of her activities.

And the woman—well she keeps her identity and her winnings to herself.

Randolph Field Averages 47 Points Against 3 Top Teams

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 18 (AP)—Want to know why Randolph field is ranked third in the national football and, in the eyes of southwest critics, should be No. 1

Well, the Bombers have rolled over three top southwest conference teams — Rice, Texas and Southern Methodist—for an average of more than 47 points per game, amassing 1,305 yards for a net gain of 435 per contest, which is 5½ better than Georgia university's record-makers of 1942.

But that's only half the story. Those three have been allowed just 213 yards rushing per game, four yards under the all-time collegiate mark set by Santa Clara in 1937. Rice got 45 yards, Texas 17, S.M.U. 1.

Against passes, Randolph hasn't been so effective, allowing 283 yards but the Ramblers have intercepted 10 to 71 pitches and returned them 238 yards, so the opposition has only a net of 47 yards overhead.

Nine of the 31 Randolph touchdowns have come on air raids that averaged 20 yards per pass and 4 others were on runs ranging from 46 yards by Bill Dudley against Texas to 82 by Jake Leichi against S. M. U.

Dudley is the offensive big gun and what a record the Virginia all-America boasts: 292 yards running, 12 passes for 236 yards...(five for touchdowns), 41 yards average on his punts, caught three passes, scored three touchdowns and kicked three extra points. Pete Layden, Texas-ex, is runner-up in offense with 136 on the ground and 102 passing.

Hockey League Slates Opener

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18 (U.P.)—The newly organized Pacific Coast Ice Hockey league, today scheduled a local opening with the championship Hollywood Wolves meeting the Los Angeles Monarchs Nov. 18. The northern division of the league comprising Portland, Seattle, Vancouver and Nanport, Ore., already are underway.

Oakland and San Francisco, central division clubs, scheduled an opener Nov. 25.

Pasadena and San Diego filled out the southern division.

Directors announced for the league were Leslie A. Henry, southern division; George Campbell, central division, and Al Leader, northern division.

Wendell Hands Cubs First 1944 Defeat

Coach Merle Terry and his Wendell high gridders served notice on the other teams of the Magic Valley that they'd have to be considered for area honors next season by crushing the Twin Falls Cubs' "best team in years" by the score of 26-0 at Lincoln field last night.

The entire line and two of the four backfield men that Terry started against the Cubs will be back next season So will all but one of the eight substitutes that the youthful coach used.

The story of the game is nothing more than that of a good little team stepping out of its class. Wendell simply had too much on the ball for the junior Bruins.

Recover Fumble, Score

Wendell broke into the scoring column early in the second quarter after Terry's gridders recovered a Cub fumble deep in the latter's territory. Roy Hamilton, husky right halfback, plunged off a pileup of players to count the touchdown and then added the extra point in the same manner.

After the Bruins, principally on a sleeper play, had carried the ball deep into Wendell territory, Dick Moon, the Wendell left half, shot off tackle for a 65-yard romp and a touchdown. Only 10 seconds of the game remained when he took the ball.

That same Moon (there's a brother Kenneth who also is quite good) took the kickoff opening the second half from his own 15 to the Twin Falls' 15—a run of 70 yards—before he was brought down from behind. The Cubs held on their one-yard line.

Scores on Bad Pass

Play was in Twin Falls territory for the remainder of the game. In the fourth quarter, Hamilton recovered a bad pass from center behind the Cubs' goal line for a touchdown and a moment later shot through the line for the extra point.

With but 20 seconds of the game remaining, Bunn, Wendell fullback, intercepted a pass and carried it to the Cub 30-yard line, where he was brought down by Hubert Hendrix, the junior Bruins' star end. However, the Cubs were penalized 15 yards for unnecessary roughness and a moment later Kenneth Moon, quarterback, slid off tight tackle for a touchdown. Bunn's dropkick for the extra point was low.

The lineup:

Wendell	Pos.	Cubs

ALLIED CLOTHING DRIVE WILL OPEN

One-week campaign to secure used clothing in Twin Falls for the United Nations relief organization's apparel drive will be inaugurated Thursday by the Women's Society for Christian Service.

The Methodist organization will forward all donated clothing to the national guard armory at Boise, collection point in south Idaho for the UNNRA drive.

Mrs. E. T. Guttrey, chairman of the campaign here, announced Wednesday that "any good wearable clothing is acceptable, but it must be clean and mended." She said, however, that no shoes or hats are wanted in the present drive.

"The United Nations relief organization has asked us to gather all types of outer and under garments for women and girls," Mrs. Guttery said. "We all know how tremendous is the need overseas and the W. S. C. S. hopes to find an enthusiastic response from Twin Falls and rural residences of all churches as well as those who are members of the Methodist church."

Clothing may be brought to the Methodist church from 2:30 to 4 p. m. daily, although the church caretaker will be on hand at all hours if the 2:30 to 4 period is inconvenient for donors.

The committee in charge of the campaign includes Mrs G. W. Bice, Mrs. C. C. Dudley, Mrs. S. P. Yantis.

SOLON SEES WAR GOING INTO 1945

U. S. AIR BASE, ENGLAND, Oct. 18 (U.P.)—Rep. Ranulf Compton, R., Conn., said today that the allied high command schedule never had contemplated completion of the European war in 1944 but the American people had been deluded into believing victory this fall was probable.

"Unhappily, due to lack of proper information from the OWI, the American people have expected the end soon," Compton said on his arrival here after a six-day tour of the western front. "This should be corrected."

Ahead of Schedule

Actually, he said, the European operations are "well ahead of schedule."

He said high ranking officers told him that "except for another supply miracle, we should not expect to finish the European operations until next spring."

At the front Compton visited Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, commander of the American third army, under whom he served in the first world war.

Patton told him, he said, to "tell the people back home that this is not anywhere near over." He added that Patton told him that his army would be further ahead of schedule had it not been for an acute problem of supply.

Advance Slowed

"After talking with Patton, I believe the third army would have taken Metz and gone on to the Rhine if it had not been for this difficulty," Compton said.

Compton was hatless and clad in mechanic's overalls when he landed here. He said he had a "marvelous time" and the morale of the front line troops was "tops."

"The weather over there has been pretty terrible," he said. "It has been raining most of the time and the mud is terrific. But our troops have plenty of food and warm winter clothing."

DDD FUELS USED IN FOREIGN CARS

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Ingenious foreigners, trying to beat the gas and oil shortage, are keeping their cars running on such substitutes as oil from alligators' tails and rum mixtures, an article in Foreign Commerce Weekly, commerce department publication, states.

Total war has acquainted motors with strange fuels and lubricants, and even before the war oil-poor countries had developed many synthetic oil products, according to Dorothy Knibb, author of the article.

Alligators are plentiful in Brazil, and when no better substitute is available, motors are kept humming with alligator tail oil, which is even reported to have run a Diesel engine successfully.

Rum Aids Gas

The residents of Martinique find that a heady preparation containing 92 per cent rum and eight per cent gasoline works successfully and stretches slim gas supplies, the article said.

Probably the most widely known substitute oil, Miss Knibb said, is benzoil, distilled from coal tar. Information concerning production of benzoil is carefully restricted at present.

Also widely used, from Sweden to Spain and from India to Brazil, are "gasogenes," stove-like devices attached to automobiles or tractors and fed by wood or charcoal. At least 90 per cent of all the vehicles in Sweden are operating on gasogenes.

Alcohol Used

Anhydrous alcohol, a product of grain, sugar, beets or other carbohydrates, also is receiving worldwide attention as a substitute motor fuel, and it may be used by itself or mixed with petroleum, Miss Knibb said.

Scandinavian countries have been using methane gas made from town sewage while Spain reports successful use of a new fuel, "Carreras," a mixture of gasoline and distillate from twigs, straw, leaves, or other products, she said.

FCA Prober Quits For 'Suppression'

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18 (AP)—Roland W. Bush, farm credit administration examiner of Houston, Tex., today announced his resignation and charged in a statement that an examination made of an unnamed federal bank for cooperatives was being suppressed "until after the November election for political reasons."

"I am resigning a $5,200 a year job so that this situation can be brought to public attention," Bush said. "The federal law forbade me to reveal the facts while I was a civil service employe."

Bush directed his resignation to M. J. Fox, chief examiner, and I. W. Duggan, governor of the farm credit administration, with headquarters here, and also made public a letter signed by A. C. Utterback, FCA supervising examiner, to Duggan charging pressure had been brought on him to suppress and falsify his report on the bank, and that subsequently his report was buried.

W. J. Snow, acting FCA governor in the absence of Duggan, today said that no politics was involved in handling of the bank report and that the FCA had decided upon a reexamination of the bank, which now was in progress.

GI Finds Dad in Italian Village

CHICAGO (U.P.)—An American soldier from Chicago trudged into the little town of Castel St. Vincenzo, about halfway between Naples and Rome and was led to a certain home where he met an elderly man named Anthony Colantonio.

"How do you do," said the host in perfect English.

"Don't you know me?" the young soldier asked.

The elderly man paused a moment. Recognition came over his face, and in a moment the two were shedding tears as they embraced.

The soldier was Pvt. Fred J. Colantonio and the elderly man was his father whom he had not seen in fourteen years. After the death of his wife—Fred's mother—the elder Colantonio returned to Italy in 1930 where he took over the farming lands of his father.

Subs Destroy 32 More Jap Ships

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Destruction of 32 Japanese vessels including seven warships, by American submarines, was reported today by Navy Secretary Forrestal.

The secretary also announced that 905 enemy ships have been sunk or damaged by the third and fifth U. S. fleets in the last four and one-half months.

Planes and anti-aircraft guns of the third and fifth fleets since last June have destroyed 3,080 Japanese planes, including 1,827 shot out of the air and 1,253 destroyed on the ground, he told a press conference.

ON OVERSEAS DUTY

HAZELTON, Oct. 18—Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Treat that their son, Pfc. E. W. Treat, is now on overseas duty with a tank battalion. Private Treat, who entered the armed forces in February, was formerly stationed at Camp Gruber, Okla.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—An improved quality of leadership enabled today's stock market to reach a new peak for the September-October rise and put the averages within a narrow margin of the seven-year highs registered last July.

Gains in the key industrials and rails ranged from fractions to around a point. Buying thinned out a little after a lively morning but advances were maintained with minor exceptions. Transactions totaled 900,000 shares.

Prominence of various industrials known as blue chips suggested some revival of investment demand based on election possibilities and signs of better progress in the move for an orderly reconversion.

Bonds moved ahead with the share list with rails in the lead.

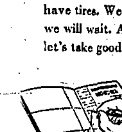
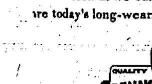
MAKE YOUR OLD TIRES LAST!

RESERVE YOUR NEW TIRES NOW!



Our fighting forces on every battle front are wearing out prodigious quantities of tires. With railroad bridges, tracks and rolling stock destroyed, ammunition and other war supplies have to be carried to the front in trucks. Army trucks must have tires. We on the home front need tires, too, but we will wait. And while we're waiting for new tires, let's take good care of our old tires—make them last!



If you want to be one of the first to get a set of new tires when they are available, come in and register in our "Tire PriorityBook." We'll reserve new PENNSYLVANIA Tires for you now, to be delivered as soon as we can. And Pennsylvanias, you know, are today's long-wearing quality tires.

GERMANY WILL TRY IT AGAIN

By Sigrid Schultz

Copyright, 1944, by Sigrid Schultz; Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1919 to 1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World war I to World war II. And she saw the behind-the-scenes preparation for the coming "war-to-peace" that she warns may culminate in World war III. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace, plans that even now are being put into effect.

XX

Confronting the next German government is the serious problem of the unwed mothers encouraged by the nazi regime as a means of breeding future warriors.

The nazi party has always made a great point of the virility of its members. I have seen the sex instinct deliberately aroused to many ways. At mass meetings, speeches dwelling on the copulative prowess of the nazi male would send the storm troopers marching out of the hall all set for a demonstration.

At the movies, I have seen pictures whose only purpose could have been to turn the spectator's thoughts toward procreation, with long love passages and subsequent scenes depicting the joys of parenthood.

Hence, besides the large number of women who joined the nazi forces out of mistaken patriotism, or from reactionary instincts, or from greed, or out of craving for adventure, there arose another sizable group—the women who clung to nazism because only the nazi party would protect their illegitimate children. Theoretically, the fathers are the "young German heroes" who have been fighting Hitler's war. Actually, they are often the married bosses of little secretaries, filling clerks, and saleswomen.

There was the young unmarried woman working in the propaganda ministry who frankly talked about her newborn child to the foreign correspondents. She had been away for a few weeks. On her return she told us of the confinement and of the fine new German. She was only one of a large number. Usually such women tried to brazen out the situation, making fun of the "old-fashioned, backward Christians." Often enough this little set speech would be accompanied by abuse of the wives who would not give divorces to the men who had fallen for the concubine's un-Christian children. If the fathers could have got divorces, the thought ran, then the unmarried mothers could marry and start new families.

With all their prating about the German home, the nazis have systematically destroyed its security, increasing thereby their hold on the population. No one realized this contradiction more bitterly than the decent women who saw their ideals degraded every day, sometimes by their own daughters.

Yet a great deal of the blame rests with the decent women, too. For they had their chance to vote, to do something about Hitler before Hitler came to power, and even thereafter for some time, until the Gestapo attained its all-powerful position. But the glittering menace of nazi conquests blinded many of these women to the danger to themselves and to their country.

In 1918 it was not quite correct to talk about sex. The German women who lost their husbands and sweethearts in the war resigned themselves as well they could to loneliness, to church activities, and to social-welfare work. They were still Christian. But after years of Hitler-encouraged pagan licentiousness and political mysticism, the situation differs radically today.

Great numbers of German women have lost their men during World war II. But where is the religion to console them? They have no religion, except their "duty to the state." Women of other countries will also have to face celibacy. But they will not have been taught that their sole function is to perpetuate the race. Other societies still prize Christian restraint. Hitleria will strike the German woman twice as hard as the women with traditions of emotional control.

Any United Nations soldiers who cross the German borders must be prepared to experience determined feminine attack. The German woman who can go to a United Nations country as the wife of a returned soldier can carry on there with impunity, the work of the secret general staff. And she will consider her children German.

The woman who cannot help produce the next German generation will find other ways to serve the nation, in business and in politics, fighting with woman's weapons for Germanic world domination. And countless organizations abroad; set up to utilize their desperate energies will provide whatever help is needed to facilitate their conquests.

There is always the possibility that the women and the young people who have now experienced the real horrors of war on their home soil will come to protest against war. They may even teach their children to hate it, as the mothers of young Americans, Englishmen, and Frenchmen taught their children to hate war after 1918. But there remains the war within a war, toward which the efforts of the political organizers in the German nation have been directed ever since 1940.

Only when the women realize that the old sex and sympathy appeals no longer get them anywhere, that the ammunition for the secret war-in-peace is powerless, then—and only then—will they change. With the help of the small minority of good women among them, and paralyzed by lack of response from the outside world, they can be made slowly to revert to the standards of their decent forebears of long ago, the old-time Germans, not yet poisoned with the virus of pan-Germanism.

Murders in Paris Branded as Hoax

PARIS, Oct. 18 (AP)—The newspaper Resistance said today that the story of wholesale murders last March by a mysterious Dr. Marcel Petiot was a gestapo hoax designed to discredit him as an anti-nazi underground leader in France.

The newspaper published a purported letter from Petiot himself giving that explanation, and claimed that experts had confirmed the authenticity of the handwriting.

NO RELIEF SEEN FOR SUGAR LACK

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Sugar rationing being somewhat governmental officials say this situation should begin improving now. Others say they don't know how long it will prevail.

There are a number of factors involved in the shortage. By shortage is meant insufficient supplies of refined sugar to meet the demands.

The squeeze is felt in parts of this country, particularly in the middle-west. Here are some of the factors as outlined by the war food administration:

Fruit Crop up

The fruit crop was larger than last year. There is extra heavy demand by housewives for sugar for canning.

There was a large production of milk last summer. More condensed milk was made. This called for more sugar.

A few months ago corn was short. A lot of sugar was used to replace corn sweeteners.

There was an egg surplus this year. A lot of sugar went into freezing egg yolks for confectionery use.

Last fall's beet sugar crop was smaller than usual.

As the demand piled up the stocks of beet sugar—which is refined into granulated sugar just like cane—went down until by Sept. 1 they had reached the lowest point since 1935.

Manpower Shortage

While the demand for beet sugar mounted, the refiners had manpower trouble. This helped keep the supply below the demand.

At the same time the amount of sugar cane produced here was greater than in 1942.

Because sugar beets were in shorter supply, more cane sugar had to be turned out.

Some mid-western areas which had depended upon beet sugar this fall had to turn to the east coast refineries for cane.

Woman Barely Escapes Lethal Effects of Gas

Cyanide gas, used for execution in some states, Tuesday convinced one Twin Falls woman that the stuff requires delicate handling.

Mrs. Ethel Jones, dissolving in tablet form for fumigation purposes, the cyanide released its deadly fumes when a bottle of sulphuric acid, being carried in the same shopping bag, broke and splattered on the tablets.

A faint trace of the gas must have reached the woman's nostrils because when police arrived she was still rather groggy. The officers identified the ingredients of the gas and destroyed them.

Cyanide gas is used in the Nevada state penitentiary and elsewhere for execution purposes. Inhalation of the fumes can result in death in less than one minute.

Germany Sets up New Home Guard

LONDON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Hitler established by decree today an armed German home guard of all citizens between 16 and 60, the Berlin radio announced, as allied armies beat against the reich from the west, east, southeast and south.

Describing this people's army as "not a preparation for defeat, but for victory," the German station said:

"The significance of the German volkssturm becomes obvious when the possibility of breakthroughs in our fighting fronts and the home leadings in our hinterland are taken into account."

The home guard men will be part of the German army, the broadcast said, adding that "they will wear no uniform, but will be marked on the armband in accordance with international law."

750 PLANTS MAKE CIVILIANS' GOODS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Civilian goods production has been authorized in more than 750 plants under the "spot authorization" plan, war production board officials estimated today, with new applications arriving at a rate of about 300 a week.

The plant-by-plant authorizations may prove to be the month bridge between war and peacetime production, some officials believe, if the European war runs into the winter and if businessmen continue to use the program as a cushion for war contract cancellations.

Hope of Victory

This was the original concept of the "spot" plan, which went into effect Aug. 15, but as hopes rose of an autumn victory over Germany WPB leaders began to regard it as a stopgap measure to be scrapped on V-E day along with most of WPB's controls over industry.

The spot plan permits companies to make peacetime goods if they can prove to WPB field offices that they have labor and machinery not needed for war work.

Widespread usage of the plan now appears likely with the slow-up of allied forces at Siegfried, westwall, and businessmen generally have begun to explore the possibilities of using the plan despite their complaints at the red tape involved in getting an application cleared.

Taking Orders

One company already is taking orders for vacuum cleaners assembled under the "spot" plan for parts remaining in stock and parts now being manufactured. The Maytag company of Newton, Ia., has gained approval to make parts for washing machines, to be assembled when WPB gives the go-ahead.

Other companies have been permitted to start, or are free to start, the production of sofa beds, innerspring mattresses, cribs, curtain rods, lawn mowers, bottle openers, box bed springs, scales, milking machines, electric hot plates, sauce pans, kettles, steel highway signs, aluminum venetian blinds, oil burners, egg beaters, aluminum vacuum bottles, silverware, milk coolers and septic tanks.

Liquor Dispensary Profits Allocated

BOISE, Oct. 18 (AP) — The first quarterly allocation of state liquor dispensary profits of the current fiscal year was made today in the amount of $301,161.36.

The first 1944-45 quarter total far exceeds the final 1943-44 quarter distribution of $84,000.16.

Fifty per cent of the total goes into the state general fund and 50 per cent is allocated among counties for educational purposes.

County allocations of first quarter funds included: Blaine, $1,550.62; Camas, $401.66; Cassia, $4,264.75; Elmore, $1,629.91; Gooding, $2,725.63; Jerome, $2,324.64; Lincoln, $1,240.96; Minidoka, $2,917.09, and Twin Falls, $10,464.69.

Funds for Schools Allotted by State

BOISE, Oct. 17 (AP)—The state department of education today made its first quarter apportionment of *public school funds to Idaho coun*ties.

County allocations include: Blaine, $3,472.57; Camas, $793.76; Cassia, $26,534.21, Elmore, $793.76; Gooding, $11,568.77; Jerome, $12,909.32; Lincoln, $2,263.97; Minidoka, $15,884.41, and Twin Falls, $34,740.39.

FOOD PLANTS ASK WOMEN FOR HELP

A direct appeal to women of Magic Valley to rally to the aid of the sugar factory and the bean and potato warehouses in meeting the labor shortage was voiced Wednesday by Mrs. Lulu M. Hyde, Boise.

Mrs. Hyde, assistant state supervisor, emergency farm labor, women's division, has been loaned to the U. S. employment office here by the Boise office to assist in mobilizing the womanpower of this community to meet the emergency.

"Food for Victory"

"This war is far from won, and 'food for victory' continues to be one of our most potent ammunitions," Mrs. Hyde declared. Mrs. Hyde is the mother of two sons who are serving with the armed forces in the south Pacific.

She particularly urged wives of servicemen to accept this job as a patriotic responsibility, calling attention to the fact that much of the foodstuff which must be processed now and in the next few weeks is under government contract for army and navy use here and overseas.

10 Needed at Once

"Ten women are wanted at once by the Amalgamated Sugar company, some to work from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m., and others from midnight to 8 a. m. There is no heavy work involved, and the factory is paying 65 cents an hour," Mrs. Hyde said.

She explained that buses leave one-half hour before each shift begins. Sewing sacks is one of the jobs which women can do. The sacks of sugar pass on a conveyor, and the operator has only to run the tops through a machine.

Jobs Are Easy

Putting smaller sacks of sugar into 100 pound sacks is another job being offered women; tripping levers at intervals is still another, requiring no hard work.

Mrs. Hyde said that the bean warehouses are paying 55 cents for women sorters, and added "Any woman who can use her hands, can do this work. The same applies to sorting potatoes." The potato warehouses pay women sorters from 55 cents to 65 cents, depending on their aptitude.

Need Potato Pickers

The need for women potato pickers is crucial. This work is more difficult, in that it involves stooping. From 10 to 12 cents are paid for each 100-pound sack of potatoes.

Applications should be made at the U. S. employment service office on Second street east, across the alley from the Rogerson hotel.

The USO center, at the request of Mrs. Hyde, Tuesday posted on the bulletin board an appeal to wives of servicemen to help in the present emergency by volunteering to accept jobs in the sugar factory and warehouses this fall.

General in Chat With Hansen Man

HANSEN, Oct. 18 — While serving with an eighth air force service command mobile repair unit, M.-Sgt. Curtis Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith, was interviewed by Brig.-Gen. Donald R. Goodrich. The general was inspecting facilities at a station, jointly operated by the royal and American air forces, where planes damaged in combat may land for repairs.

Master Sergeant Smith entered the service Aug. 9, 1940, at Hamilton field, Calif. From there he was sent to Parks Air college, East St. Louis, Ill., where he was given special training in airplane mechanics. He was sent overseas last August.

His wife and daughter are residing in San Francisco.

Run Ends at Buhl Canning Concern

BUHL, Oct. 18—Amid the blowing of whistles and tooting of horns which made many Buhl residents inquire if the war had come to an end, the Horseman Canning company brought to an official close the canning run for the current year.

The day shift worked on an extra evening to finish the run, and the management served them lunch. Manager Bert Bollinbroker, who says the factory has had a highly successful first year here, is full of praise for the community's cooperation.

*Business men, ministers, house*wives and high school students, all contributed to save the crop.

The run lasted 48 days, with the last two weeks seeing much of the whole-kernel variety of corn canned. The company hopes to branch out into other types of canning besides corn.

City Hospital in Buhl Discussed

BUHL, Oct. 18—With 60 persons in attendance last evening in the Buhl city hall, plans were discussed for the establishment of a city hospital.

While all plans are still tentative, the outcome of the project still depended upon a report from different organizations as to whether or not they will support such a civic enterprise. Main points of discussion were cost, operation, size and ways and means of support. It was established during the meeting that the hospital would in all probability be operated on a non-profit basis and will be run by a board of directors.
